MAGISTRATES are now so multitudinous in the colony that perhaps the most convenient way to make a record of Justices would be to prepare a list of persons who are not magistrates. Custom, however, which has so strong an influence over mankind, prevails even in this, and a complete list of magistrates at present on the roll, including from the earliest appointed to the latest gazetted, has been compiled from official sources for the SYDNEY MAIL, and will be given in two instalments in that weekly. The first portion will appear in the issue of Saturday next. A list was given in the MAIL some time ago, but as it comprised only the more recent appointments, it served principally to elicit a general request for one in the complete form now prepared.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. SUTHERLAND, in reply to Mr. Driver, said that the work of fencing off the approaches to the bridge at Windsor was let on the 14th instant, and was now completed.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Driver, said that a site for post and telegraph offices at Windsor having been obtained, plans and specifications were now being prepared, and tenders for the work would be probably invited in about three weeks' time.

Mr. SUTHERLAND, in reply to Mr. Driver, said that no money had been voted for the repairs of the Fitzroy Bridge, Windsor, but a vote was available for a new bridge to replace the old one. The delay in commencing the erection of the new bridge had arisen from the difficulty of obtaining eligible tenders for the work.

Mr. SUTHERLAND, in reply to Mr. Lynch, said the Engineer-in-chief for Railways had been requested to report on the advisability of a trial survey being undertaken from Blayney, via Carcoar, Cowra, Forbes, Parkes, and Condobolin, to Wilcannia. The Government would decide as soon as that report should be received.

Mr. W. H. SUTTOR, in reply to Mr. M'Elhone—in reference to the petition of Thomas Altcrator and others, applying to have a road from Scone to the old Merriwa crossing surveyed, proclaimed, and opened—said that instructions had been issued for a further report and survey if deemed advisable.

Mr. FITZPATRICK, in reply to Mr. Barbour, said that Messrs. A. Brodie, M. T. Robson, R. Davies, W. G. De Caux, and C. F. Mehan were the tenderers for supplies to the Murrurundi hospital for the year 1878; that Mr. A. Brodie's tender, which was the lowest, was accepted; that Mr. Brodie was one of the founders of the institution, and had been president at different times, and always was on the committee, notwithstanding which he had been the successful tenderer for hospital supplies for some years past; that Mr. Brodie did not take part in the acceptance of tenders, but left the room while they were being opened and discussed; and that he had not been the contractor for supplies since September 6, 1878.

Mr. FARNELL, in reply to Mr. W. C. Browne, said it was intended to notify a new land office at Coonamble, and appoint an agent as soon as the information could be compiled as to the conditional purchases that would be included in the new district.

Mr. FITZPATRICK, in reply to Mr. J. Davies, said that an additional constable would be stationed at Brewarrina, should provision be made for additional men required at that and other places.

Mr. LEARY, in reply to Mr. W. Davies, said the intervals for holding the several District Courts of the colony would shortly be notified, and arrangements would be made for the sitting of a third District Court during each year at Goulburn.

Mr. FITZPATRICK, in reply to Mr. Dillon, said that the necessary steps were being taken to fill up the two captaincies at present vacant in the Permanent Force.

Mr. FITZPATRICK, in reply to Mr. Lucas, said that the report of the Government valuator as to the value of a portion of land purchased for the site of a watch-house at Rocky Point reached him this afternoon, and he had not yet had time to consider it.

DOCUMENTS LAID ON THE TABLE.

Mr. Fitzpatrick laid on the table a return showing the present distribution of the police in the colony; also the Statistical Register for 1877.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

PETITIONS.

Petitions against the passing of the Railway Refreshment Rooms Bill were presented—By Mr. Pilcher, from residents of Cow Flat and neighbourhood; by Mr. Macintosh, from members of the New Church, from citizens of Sydney, from the officers and members of the Rose of Australia division Sons of Temperance, from members, &c., of the Baptist Church, Woolloomooloo, Wesleyan Church, Bourke-street, Surry Hills, St. Philip's, Church Hill, and the workers for the Sunday morning breakfasts; by Mr. R. B. Smith, from residents of the Manning River; by Mr. Harris, from members of the Mariners' Church and others; by Mr. Lynch, from residents of Corowa; by Mr. Roseby, from citizens of Sydney and the ladies of the Evangelistic Committee, also from the members of the Ladies' Flower Mission; by Mr. Dillon, from the rector and resident tutor of St. John's College; by Mr. Webb, from residents of Lucknow; by Mr. Farnell, from residents of North Willoughby; by Mr. Hungerford, from officers and members of "We hope to Prosper" Division Daughters of Temperance; by Mr. J. Davies, from citizens of Sydney; by Mr. Greenwood, from residents of Balmain.

Mr. Barbour presented a petition from J. R. Hackett and Andrew Armstrong, in reference to the title of certain land; also a petition from A. Lakeman and A. Armstrong, in reference to the title of certain land.

Mr. W. Davies presented a petition from the Goulburn Gas and Coal Company, for leave to introduce a private bill.

The petitions were received.

Mr. STEPHEN BROWN moved,—That the petition presented by him on 24th October, relative to the Sydney Corporation Bill, be printed.

Mr. J. DAVIES moved,—That the petition presented by him on 24th October, against the Railway Refreshment Rooms Bill, be printed.

Mr. HUNGERFORD moved.—That the petition presented by him on 24th October, against the Railway Refreshment Rooms Bill, be printed.

The motions were agreed to.

JUSTICES APPEAL BILL.

Mr. TERRY moved the second reading of the Justices Appeal Bill. A few weeks back he had postponed the consideration of this bill because it was submitted without some forms, which several of his friends thought were necessary to carry the bill into operation. He had given notice of certain amendments to which, with a list of forms, he would refer hon. members. The bill was substantially an adaptation of the English Act passed in 1857, 20 and 21 Vic., chap. 43. Its object was to introduce the practice which had been in force in England for more than twenty years, of allowing persons to appeal from a magistrates decision in summary cases. This practice had been in force in Victoria also since 1865, and had worked well there. The bill was known in Victoria as the Case Stated Bill, and it cheapened litigation in many respects. He was convinced that if the bill were passed here many moot points of law could be readily and speedily decided. The Prohibition Law would remain in force, but the bill he now submitted would provide a far speedier and better plan of obtaining justice than was provided by the Prohibition Law. Some of the legal gentlemen in the House would doubtless oppose the bill, but they would oppose it because it proposed a far cheaper mode obtaining justice than at present existed. He proposed to alter clause 1, so that decisions of magistrates as to rates under the 175th section of the Act could be appealed against easily and inexpensively. According to the bill, before a person could ask for a case to be stated he would have to enter into a recognizance in the sum of £20 as a guarantee that he would carry the appeal to an issue. Under the present law, as we all knew, the Judges possessed enormous powers; they could if they chose mulct the magistrates in any sum they pleased, if the magistrates were wrong on the points of law raised. The bill now submitted would limit the power of the Judges in this respect to £20; and therefore as far as the magistrates were concerned it would be a great advantage to them. The first clause of the bill referred to "appeal by way of a case stated for the Supreme Court in all summary cases." That clause was taken from 20 and 21 Vic., chap. 43, section 1, of the English law. "Security and notice to be given by appellant" was a copy of the English statute. "Justices may refuse frivolous application unless law officer require it" was copied from the English law. "Where the Justices refuse to state a case the Court may order one to be stated" was a copy of the English statute. "Supreme Court may decide the case" was copied from the English statute. "Costs of appeal not to exceed £20" was taken from the Victorian law. "Cases may be remitted for amendment" was from the English statute. "After decision of Court, Justice may enforce convictions," and the amending clause "Power of the Supreme Court may be exercised by Judge in chambers," was taken from the English statute. The last-mentioned clause and another were taken from an English statute very recently passed. He had been induced to submit this bill to the House because he thought it an improvement on the present law of prohibition. It did not touch that law, but would leave the applicant to proceed by way of a prohibition, or by way of the law under the bill now introduced.

Mr. LEARY said that when the bill was distributed, and he glanced at it, he thought it would provide an easy mode of obtaining the opinion of the Court on points of law, but since then he had examined the Act as well as preceding legislation very carefully, and the very reason which the hon. member last mentioned was the very reason why the bill should not be passed. We had a statute on prohibition, and if the hon. member had proposed to repeal that Prohibition Act on the ground that he was going to provide an easier and better mode there would be some reason for asking the House to pass the bill. But if the bill were passed as the hon. member proposed, persons would have two statutes to look through, and it was most undesirable that legislation should take that direction. If this were a proper bill the Justice Act ought, in his opinion, to be repealed. He could not see what advantage this bill would have over the present law. For instance, by the present law, if a person were committed to prison at any time, either in or out of term, his friend could go before a Judge and have the question to be determined at once. Under this bill there was no reference whatever to any process by which a person could get his friend out of prison. He did not know that the present bill had worked badly up to the present time. He considered that this bill showed no improvement on the existing law, and was not entitled to the favourable consideration of the House, and therefore he should oppose it.

Mr. PILCHER said if the hon. member for New England had intended to introduce a bill for the purpose of making costs he could not have been more successful. [Mr. S. Brown: Hear, hear.] The process he proposed by this bill was a most expensive one. At present a person was enabled to get a writ of prohibition within a day or two, and by a most inexpensive process. But under this bill, suppose that a justice gave a decision and he was opposed to it, he would first of all require a justice to state a case. Well, if a justice thought the application was merely frivolous, then he might say he would not state a case. Then the applicant would be compelled to apply to the Supreme Court to compel him to do so. Supposing the Court made an order granting a mandamus directing a magistrate to state a case, then in the ordinary course the case would come before the Judge. So that what a man could do now in an hour or two, as some hon. members knew well, would take at least six weeks by the course proposed by this bill, to get through the first stage of the prohibition. Three distinct processes would be necessary under this measure where one was now sufficient. And as to the cheapness, he need hardly remind hon. members that two legal processes could not be cheaper than one. He would undertake to say this, that the hon. gentleman would be inflicting a grievous injury upon the public by the bill, and conferring a great benefit upon the legal profession. By the bill the hon. member provided that if an applicant for an appeal was successful he should not get more than £20 for costs. If he appealed successfully under this bill, he would undertake to say that the costs would be three times £20, and he would thus be £40 out of pocket. Whereas, if he were unsuccessful, there was to be no limit to the costs which the other side might impose on him. It was an honest principle of law, and could not be improved, that the man who was right in law should have the costs, even though he only obtained a decision in his favour on an appeal. If any hon. gentleman would take up and construe the 5th section of this Act—and he thought laymen often construed Acts of Parliament best—they would see the troublesome process that was involved. The bill provided for an incalculably more expensive process than the existing law. Section 9 appeared to be about as useless a section as could possibly be devised. The bill deprived persons of the right of appeal which they already had, and confined them to an absurd and necessarily prolonged and very expensive process of appeal. He should, therefore, oppose the second reading of the bill.

Mr. S. C. BROWN said the hon. member for New England seemed to have two objects in view. He wanted to make these appeals less expensive, and to save magistrates from any consequences of the law. The hon. gentleman referred to Victorian legislation as a reason why we should introduce this bill. But we had a better law here than they had in Victoria. His hon. friend did not repeal our existing law, but wanted to introduce something which was far more expensive and unworkable. A person who was now dissatisfied with an order of a justice on an affidavit stating the fact with a copy of the depositions could at once get an order for a stay of proceedings; but under this bill there could be no order for stay of proceedings until the whole matter was determined. Under this bill, too, a man must enter into a recognisance for £20 that he would prosecute; but there was no such recognisance wanted under the law as it stood. The costs of an application for a prohibition were nothing like £20. There was no cheapening of the existing law there, and then the hon. gentleman said that under this present bill a magistrate could go and take his case before a Judge personally. Why he could do that now. He had seen a magistrate appear, produce his affidavit as to what had occurred, state his reasons, and leave the Judge to determine. And then he thought, too, that there were cases in which magistrates deserved to be mulct. Sometimes stipendiary magistrates, and sometimes unpaid magistrates showed great ignorance of the law, and in those cases they deserved to be mulct. Why should they not be? Some poor unfortunate man may have had his liberty endangered, or his goods and chattels threatened to be sold off, because the magistrates were grossly ignorant of the law; he appeals and puts them right, and he is to be at all the cost. Even for that reason alone the bill ought to be rejected by the House. There was a cheap and speedy method of proceeding already provided by the law, and there was no need for this innovation. The parties can appear themselves; a few words will settle the matter, and in the meantime all the mischief will be obviated by a stay of proceedings. Appeals are now allowed on all important points, and if they are important points appeals ought to be allowed. The appeal goes before the judges, and the magistrate can please himself whether he employs a barrister or not; this was a matter entirely in the discretion of the magistrate or of the complainant. Where was the necessity then to alter the law? Where was the necessity for all these provisions? The whole thing could be done on a common affidavit, and on a common rule nisi. These matters only required to be explained to the House, and he was sure they would throw out the bill. He thought the hon. member might have introduced this bill without throwing out the taunt that it would be opposed by the legal gentlemen, because it would tend to cut down their fees. Why, the costs, instead of being cut down, would be in some cases doubled and trebled. With regard to the powers of amendment, all those powers were conferred in two existing Acts. Then, with regard to appeals under the Municipalities Act, any man served with a notice of the assessment of his property can give notice of appeal; he can go before any two justices, and they rate his property, and the thing is decided. The hon. member wanted to give him the power of appealing to the Supreme Court, and to state a case. How could they state a case? Where was the point of law? He thought this was one of those matters upon which they were really wasting the time of the House in discussing. He should vote against the second reading of this bill.

The motion for the second reading was negatived without division.

Mr. R. B. SMITH moved that the order of the day be discharged.

Mr. TERRY said it was most extraordinary that this bill was opposed by all the legal members of the House. He denied that his bill would cause three processes as stated by Mr. Pilcher; on the contrary, it would make the process far cheaper and much more simple. These lawyers always oppose anything that will make law cheap and be a boon to the public. When they saw lawyer after lawyer rise to oppose a bill there must be something good in it. He maintained that the third clause of this bill—

Mr. SPEAKER said the hon. member was not at liberty to discuss the merits of the bill upon a motion to discharge the order of the day.

Mr. TERRY said the bill had been misinterpreted by the hon. gentlemen of the legal profession. He trusted the House would not discharge it, but give time for hon. members to read the various clauses. There was another bill upon the paper to give a jurisdiction to the magistrates up to £25.

Mr. PILCHER rose to order. The hon. member was not only discussing the merits of this bill, but was also discussing the merits of another bill.

Mr. SPEAKER again ruled the hon. member out of order.

Mr. TERRY bowed to the Speaker's ruling, and hoped the House would read the bill and the amendments.

Mr. PILCHER said the proposed amendments were a thousand times worse than the bill.

The motion was agreed to, and the bill was subsequently discharged from the paper.

SYDNEY IMPROVEMENT BILL.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the City of Sydney Improvement Bill.

Clause 1. "Commencement of Act."

Clause 2. "Acts repealed."

Mr. DRIVER moved that the blanks be filled up in these two clauses, to cause the Act to take effect from the 1st March next.

Agreed to.

Clause 3. "Interpretation clause."

Mr. DRIVER moved an amendment to substitute fifteen for twelve months as the period after the passing of the Act when it is to apply to buildings already built.

The clause, verbally amended, was agreed to.

The following clauses were agreed to:—Clause 4. "Provisions of this Act may, mutatis mutandis, be extended to any municipality." Clause 5. "By-laws." Clause 6. "No land to be laid out or sold for building purposes without approval of Council;" and clause 7. "No dwelling-house to be built fronting a lane of less width than twenty feet."

The blanks in clause 8, "Buildings to be divided into rates and classes," were filled up by the insertion of the words "first" day of "March next."

Clause 9. "Exception in certain cases; application to be made to the City Council," was submitted.

Mr. LUCAS said that he had not been able to give very much consideration to the bill; but this clause appeared to him to be arbitrary. He thought that there should be a schedule of fees provided, and that it should not be left to the City Council or the City Surveyor to charge what they pleased. The plans submitted for approval should be initialled by the City Surveyor.

Mr. HOSKINS thought the City Surveyor ought to be paid by the Council a fixed salary, and that he should not be dependent on fees.

Mr. DRIVER said that all fees and penalties named in the bill went to the funds of the Municipal Council, and that the surveyor was only the receiving officer.

Mr. HOSKINS questioned if it was sound policy to pay fees for the performance by a municipal officer of what was really a municipal duty.

Mr. DRIVER said that this bill was printed and distributed in January last, and the Council had done all in their power to make its provisions known. He believed it was a good bill, but he did not desire even now to press it forward if hon. members wanted more time for consideration. All that this clause required was that a person about to build should submit his plan to the City Surveyor. If, however, it were really desired that he should postpone the clause he would consent to do so.

Mr. GREENWOOD considered that the bill was a capital measure, and as one of the representatives of East Sydney he should be delighted to see it passed as quickly as possible, and to see its provisions extended to other municipalities where applicable. He, however, thought there was a little verbal ambiguity in this clause.

The clause was agreed to.

Clause 10. "Appointment of city building surveyor" was postponed, Mr. Driver stating that it was his intention to prepare an amendment for insertion in this clause, providing for the payment of fees to the Council, and for the payment of a salary to the City Surveyor.

The following clauses were agreed to:—Clause 11, "Office of surveyor, service of notice on surveyor;" clause 12, "Deputy-surveyor to be appointed by the Mayor;" clause 13, "Duties of city building surveyor;" clause 14, "Amount of building fees to be paid to surveyor;" clause 15, "Fees on out-offices."

Clause 16. "Three clear days before any building on old or new foundations, or on foundations partly new and partly old, or on any wall or fence fronting the building-line of any street, shall be begun to be built, and also before any addition or alteration shall be made to any building, and also before any other matter or thing shall be commenced, which by this Act is placed under the supervision of the surveyor, the person causing such building, or wall, or fence to be built, or such work to be executed, shall give to the said surveyor notice in writing in the form or to the effect set forth in schedule H No. 1, and shall forward with such notice plans and particulars of such building or work for the approval of the said surveyor; and if such person as aforesaid shall neglect to give such notice, or shall begin or allow any person to begin to build, or to do any of the works, matters, or things aforesaid without giving such notice, or furnishing such plan and particulars, or before the expiration of the said period of three days, he shall for every such default be liable to a penalty not less than five pounds, and not exceeding twenty pounds; and if any such person having duly begun any such building or other work, matter, or thing as aforesaid, shall, for any period exceeding one month, suspend the progress thereof, and again go on with the same then two clear days before any such recommencement or resumption of work, he shall give notice in writing to the said surveyor in the form or to the effect set forth in Schedule H, No. 2 of this Act. And if any such person shall neglect to give such notice, he shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty of not less than five pounds and not more than twenty pounds. And any such building or other work, matter, or thing so begun to be built, pulled down, rebuilt, cut into, or altered as aforesaid, or proceeded with after suspension thereof as aforesaid without such notices and plans and particulars being given respectively as aforesaid, shall be liable to be declared and abated as a common nuisance under the provisions hereinafter in that behalf contained. Provided always that if by reason of any emergency, any act, matter, or thing hereby placed under the supervision of the said surveyor, be required to be done immediately, or before such notice as aforesaid respectively can be given, then any such person as aforesaid may do such act, matter, or thing so requisite, but such person shall, within twenty-four hours of commencing such work, give to the said surveyor notice thereof in writing, or in default be liable in all respects as if no such emergency had arisen."

Mr. LUCAS suggested that the hon. member should omit the minimum penalty and allow only the maximum penalty to remain, so that trifling offence or offences committed unintentionally might be dealt with leniently.

Mr. DRIVER said he was willing to reduce the minimum penalty to £2.

Mr. M'ELHONE thought £1 was enough for a minimum penalty.

Mr. WEBB moved the omission of the words "not less than £5 and." He thought the question as to the amount of the penalty might be safely left to the discretion of the magistrates.

Mr. HUNGERFORD was opposed to striking out the words, but he thought £2 was a fairer minimum.

Mr. J. DAVIES thought that the clause might be amended so as to reduce the minimum to £2; but to fix no minimum penalty at all would hardly be in harmony with the other portion of the clause which gave great powers to the building surveyor, and to the Council. If the hon. member in charge of the bill accepted the amendment of the hon. member for East Macquarie, he would have to recast the clause.

Mr. GREENWOOD said it was easy to understand that where there was a discretion with the magistrates, without any minimum being fixed, they might make the penalty absolutely powerless as a means for causing the law to be observed, and it was therefore desirable to have a minimum fixed.

Mr. ROSEBY thought it desirable that the minimum should be fixed at 40s.

Mr. MACINTOSH said that if these cases were to be tried at the Courts of Petty Sessions, the justices must be allowed to exercise their discretion. "Not exceeding" was the proper manner in which to have the amount of the penalty stated.

Mr. M'ELHONE thought a limit should be fixed because fines inflicted in the Water Police Court on a Friday, when the Corporation cases came forward, were most exorbitant. He was not prepared to give the power of inflicting a penalty of £5 up to £20 to magistrates, and particularly that class appointed lately.

Mr. F. SUTTOR said it was reasonable that some minimum penalty should be fixed, and he was in favour of the minimum being fixed at 40s.

Mr. DRIVER defended the clause as it stood in the bill.

Mr. W. DAVIES did not see that it was necessary to state any minimum penalty.

Mr. J. DAVIES hoped the hon. member for East Macquarie would withdraw his amendment and allow 40s. to be substituted for £5 as the minimum penalty.

Mr. GREENWOOD said it might be that the penalty of 40s. would be too small to enforce the observance of the law, and he should vote against a reduction of the amount stated in the clause.

Mr. HUNGERFORD said he would vote against the amendment.

The amendment was negatived by 30 to 5.

Mr. HUNGERFORD suggested that the minimum penalty should be £2, and moved an amendment to that effect.

The CHAIRMAN said this could not be put.

Mr. DRIVER said he would consent to the proposal, and would recommit the bill, to enable it to be inserted in the clause.

On the motion of Mr. WEBB, in a later part of the clause, the minimum penalty was reduced to £2, and the clause as amended was passed.

Clause 17. "Plans and particulars of buildings of second or third class to be approved by surveyor and health officer before building is commenced."

Mr. DRIVER proposed that the blank be filled up by the word "twenty," making the penalty a sum not exceeding £20.

The amendment was agreed to.

Clause 18. "No building of third class to be used by public until approved by surveyor and health officer. Penalty," was passed, the penalties being fixed at £20 and £10.

Clause 19. "Surveyor to examine work which he may suspect to be done contrary to this Act," was passed.

Clause 20. "Surveyor may enter on premises for the purposes of his duties," was passed, the maximum and minimum penalties being fixed at £20 and £2 respectively.

Clause 21. "Stipendary magistrate or justices may order surveyor to repair, &c., any building in a ruinous state and dangerous;" 22, "Buildings, &c., to be drained by;" 23, "Penalty on letting any room, &c., deemed unfit for human habitation;" 24, "Privies or closets to be provided for every building,"—were passed, the maximum and minimum penalties in clause 23 being fixed at £20 and £2 respectively.

Clause 25. "Insufficient privy accommodation."

Mr. DRIVER moved that the maximum penalty be fixed at £20. Agreed to.

Mr. DRIVER moved that the minimum penalty be £2.

Mr. M'ELHONE suggested that the amount should be £1.

Mr. DRIVER said he knew premises not more than 200 yards from these buildings, where a number of girls and men were employed. They had one closet for the accommodation of 70 or 80 people. Owing to the unfortunate illness of the City Surveyor, at the present time we cannot take steps to prosecute. One of the proprietors had been warned over and over again, to his knowledge, during the present month. No one could tell him that a penalty of £1 would be a sufficient punishment for a man of that sort. These unfortunate girls and children were compelled to use the same privies, and the men actually exposed themselves in front of the closets which these girls were compelled to use. He thought £2 was little enough penalty in a case of that kind.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause passed.

Clause 26. "Closets, stables, &c., not built in conformity with this Act, or being a nuisance, to be altered or removed," was passed.

Clause 27. "No stable, cow-shed, or other out-house, shall be erected except upon a site approved of by the Health-officer, the Inspector of Nuisances, and the Surveyor, and every stable, cow-shed, or other out-house, already built or hereafter to be built, shall be drained, paved, ventilated, and provided with a properly-constructed pit for the receipt of manure and drainage therefrom, to the satisfaction of the surveyor."

Mr. M'ELHONE asked whether, under this clause, a person would be prevented from erecting and using a cow-house. He should be sorry to give the Corporation any arbitrary powers.

Mr. DRIVER said the clause was simple one. Its object was to prevent any person from erecting closets and stables in such a way as to cause a nuisance to neighbours.

Mr. LUCAS wished a provision of this kind were extended to the railway, as the most conspicuous places were often chosen for closets.

Mr. M'ELHONE still thought it was a very arbitrary power to give to the Corporation, and might be worked harshly. He thought the clause should be postponed.

Mr. MACINTOSH did not think hardship would arise, as the officers would have to report to the Corporation, who were usually lenient in their treatment of the citizens.

Mr. J. DAVIES said it would be very easy to comply with the provisions of this clause, and no hardship could arise; many places in the city of Sydney where cows are kept, are a perfect nuisance to the neighbours. This clause would do away with all places of that kind, but would provide that all persons who wished to put up such places, should do so in such a way as not to be a nuisance.

Mr. DRIVER pointed out that the part of the clause complained of by the hon. member for the Upper Hunter, applied only to places to be built, and not to those already built.

Mr. HUNGERFORD said the fact that this clause was restrictive was the strongest argument in its favour. He hoped the hon. member would not withdraw it.

Mr. DRIVER said he did not intend to withdraw the clause.

Mr. BEYERS agreed that the clause was stringent, but thought it ought to be so. He would like to see it applied to country towns also.

The clause was agreed to.

The following clauses were agreed to:—Clause 28, "Power to enter for inspection," &c.; 29, "Particulars, &c., of proposed awnings or portico to be sent to surveyor;" 30, "All buildings, &c., not in conformity with the Act to be deemed a common nuisance;" 31. "Buildings dangerous to neighbourhood to be deemed a common nuisance;" 32, "Proceedings in case of common nuisance;" 33, "No dangerous manufacture or trade to be carried on at less distance than 40 feet from any public way;" 34, "Owner of adjoining building may remove portions of adjoining building extending beyond boundary line."

Clause 35. "Owner of adjoining buildings to share the expense of work necessary for the protection of both buildings."

The clause was verbally amended, and a proviso was inserted as follows:—"Provided that the necessity for such work be certified to by the surveyor."

The clause as amended was agreed to.

The following clauses were agreed to:—Clause 36. "Building of party wall next vacant ground;" 37. "Chimney jambs and breasts to be placed in party-wall when desired by owner of adjoining ground;" 38. "Thickness and raising of party-walls;" 39. "Party-fence walls may be raised by owner of one side, but not to be used as party-walls unless of sufficient thickness; 40. "Rebuilding sound party-walls;" 41. "Sound party-walls now erected may remain though not in accordance with this Act;" 42. "Owner rebuilding to pull down timber partitions and build proper party walls." 43. "Timber partitions to be taken down when one house or one front is rebuilt." 44. "Party walls and party arches between intermixed property." 45. "Repair of party walls." 46. "Rebuilding of party walls against which an external wall shall have been built." 47. "External wall against party wall in certain cases."

Clause 48. "Stopping of opening in external walls abutting on other premises."

Verbally amended and agreed to.

Clause 49. "Power to enter adjoining lands, &c., to execute necessary works," was amended by the substitution of the words "the surveyor or persons appointed by him," in lieu of the words "any person."

Clauses 50 to 56, inclusive, were agreed to.

Clause 57. "If the chimney of any building or premises shall take fire by reason of the owner of such building or premises having neglected to cause such chimney to be regularly swept or cleaned, or from any other neglect of such owner, then, and in every such case, such owner shall be liable to a penalty of a sum not exceeding five pounds and not less than one pound. And in every case the proof that such chimney did not take fire through the neglect of such owner shall rest upon such owner."

Mr. CHARLES thought the occupier, and not the owner, should be the responsible party

Mr. DRIVER moved, as an amendment, that the word "occupant" be substituted for "owner."

Mr. HUNGERFORD did not agree with the amendment. He thought the owner ought to be held responsible also.

Mr. JOHN DAVIES scarcely saw what necessity there was for the clause at all. It was to the interest of the owner to see that his property did not run the risk of taking fire.

Mr. R. B. SMITH thought the clause was likely to operate very arbitrarily on tenants if amended as proposed. He had known chimneys to take fire, though swept regularly, yet in such a case a person would have to go into Court to prove his own innocence.

Mr. TERRY expressed astonishment at the "unreasonable argument" of the hon. member, and pointed out the advisableness of inserting the word "occupier" for the word "owner."

Mr. COPELAND thought it would be more advisable to strike out the whole clause, as it was altogether impracticable.

Mr. DRIVER moved the omission of the word "owner," and the insertion in its place of the word "occupant."

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause was further amended in the same way.

Mr. R. B. SMITH said that under this clause any person who saw a chimney on fire had merely to lodge information respecting it, without giving evidence, and the person accused had to prove a negative—that was, it rested with him to prove that the chimney was not on fire. He moved the omission of the words, "and in every case the proof that such chimney does not take fire through the neglect of such."

Mr. W. DAVIES said that the clause was similar to one of the commonest municipal by-laws in the country.

Mr. WEBB said that many municipal by-laws were valueless because they contained provisions which were not in accordance with statute law. He thought the clause was a very dangerous one, and directly at variance with the principles of law. An accused person should not be assumed to be guilty until he was proved to be guilty.

Mr. LEARY argued that the clause was really in favour of the occupant.

Mr. CHARLES said the first part of the clause provided for the punishment of the offender, and the second was intended to give the person accused an opportunity of exculpating himself.

Mr. HUNGERFORD did not think the clause contained the objectionable principles referred to. But he considered that there should be some provision to prevent the punishment of an occupier of a few week's standing.

Mr. ROSEBY thought the clause was a very important and wise one. It was calculated to prevent conflagrations. He knew of persons who would actually set their chimneys on fire for the sake of saving a paltry half-crown.

Mr. R. B. SMITH said it was contrary to the law of evidence to compel poor people or any one to prove their own innocence.

Mr. BADGERY was in favour of this clause. It would be very easy for a person to prove he was not guilty.

The question "that the words, proposed to be omitted stand part of the question" was put and agreed to on division—ayes. 24; noes, 8.

Mr. M'ELHONE commended the course taken by the hon. member for the Hastings.

Mr. DRIVER moved the substitution of the word "occupant" for the word "owner."

The amendment was carried, and the clause as amended was agreed to.

Clause 58, "No fire to be made in open air within 50 feet of any building, public way, &c."

Mr. HOSKINS pointed out that this was a very arbitrary clause. Even the Corporation labourers, repairing a water or a gas pipe, under this clause would not be allowed to have a fire in the streets, nor when they laid down a tar pavement. No doubt the idea of the clause was to prevent danger from the careless use of fire; but the clause was not properly drawn.

Mr. DRIVER agreed to postpone the clause.

Clauses 59 to 68, inclusive, were agreed to.

Mr. DRIVER moved that the Chairman leave the chair, report progress, and ask leave to sit again on Friday, November 22.

Agreed to, and leave given accordingly by the House.

PATENT BILL.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the Patent Bill.

Clause 1, "Patent Office in Colonial Secretary's Department;" 2, "Seal to be made, and impressions thereof to be received in evidence;" 3, "Patents officer to make rules."

These clauses were agreed to.

Clause 4, "Employés in Patent Office not to be concerned in patents."

Mr. R. B. SMITH said if this bill was to create a new department, with a lot of officials, he did not think it was desirable. He thought the hon. member would do well to postpone the consideration of the bill to some future time.

Attention was called to the state of the committee, and a quorum was formed.

Mr. BURNS said it was not the purpose of this bill to establish a new department, but simply to place matters relating to the granting of patents in the hands of a proper officer. A very important feature of the bill was that in regard to the provisional registration of patents. He advised the hon. member to postpone the further consideration of the bill, and to simplify the phraseology, which was so elaborate as to lead hon. members to imagine that it was proposed to create a new department.

Mr. S. C. BROWN admitted that there were some clauses in the bill which would be of great advantage, particularly that in regard to the provisional granting of patents, but there were several matters which required a careful study of the patents law before they were assented to. If it was proposed to create merely a registration office, the bill was unnecessary, because the law as it stood provided for the registration of patents without any expense to the country. If it was intended to appoint an officer to report on patents, that also was done at present without expense to the country by means of the fees paid by applicants.

On the motion of Mr. MACINTOSH the Chairman left the chair, reported progress, and obtained leave to sit again on Friday, the 15th of November.

MARSUPIALS.

On the motion of Mr. Dillon, the House went into committee for the consideration of the expediency of bringing in a bill to provide for the destruction of marsupial animals; and to consider an address to the Governor, praying that his Excellency will be pleased to recommend by message that provision be made for carrying out the objects of the said bill.

Mr. DILLON moved that it was expedient to bring in the bill. The bill would be an adaptation of an Act passed in Queensland last year. The main provisions would be an adaptation of the provisions of that Act, and there would be some alterations to adapt the bill to this colony. A board, consisting of ten directors composed of the sheep directors, and three cattle owners elected by the other cattle owners of the district in which the Act was operative, would be appointed; and this board would carry out the working of the bill. An assessment, of so much for sheep and so much for every twenty head of cattle, would be levied on the sheep and cattle owners of each district to which the Act was extended—the Act being extended to districts by the proclamation of the Governor, and the fine derived would be used for paying rewards or bonuses upon the scalps of the animals destroyed. It was proposed that ninepence be given for each kangaroo and Wallaroo scalp, and a less sum for a paddymelon scalp; it was estimated that a man giving his whole time to the work could make about £3 a week. It would be no tax upon the public revenue.

Mr. M'ELHONE did not think it was advisable to introduce the bill.

The resolution was passed, reported to the House, received, and read the first and the second time, and agreed to.

The House adjourned at ten minutes past 10 till 4 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday next.

MARSH V. PALSER AND ANOTHER.

In this case the plaintiff, Emily Marsh, sued Henry Palser and Mrs. T. J. Palser, as executor and executrix of the late T. J. Palser, for the sum of £40 0s. 6d., balance of money received by T. J. Palser and the defendants from friends of the plaintiff's husband in England. The defendants pleaded that the money was never received; and second, that the whole of the assets had been administered. It appeared that some deductions had not been made by the plaintiff. A verdict was given for plaintiff for £12 10s. 6d. POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Friday.

(Before the Police Magistrate with Messrs. Jolly, Pope, Reading, Thomas, Skarratt, Penfold, and Connell.)

Twelve persons were fined for drunkenness.

Edward Davis, alias Prior, was summarily convicted of having stolen a coat, valued at 25s., the property of Abraham Marks, and was sentenced to be imprisoned six months.

Thomas Appleby was found guilty of having assaulted George Alexander, and sentenced to pay a penalty of 40s., or to be imprisoned fourteen days; and a like sentence was imposed on Lewis Cohen, found guilty of having assaulted David Smyth.

Thomas Taylor was found guilty of having committed an assault of an aggravated nature upon one Ellen Bogan. Prosecutrix deposed that she lives in Union-lane, off Sussex-street; about noon on the 7th October the prisoner, who also lives in Union-lane, came to her as she was talking with another neighbour, and, saying something offensive, struck her a blow on the face which caused her to stagger; she was prevented from falling by a Mrs. Cox catching hold of her; but as she was falling the prisoner gave her a kick on the back, which knocked her down; when she was down he put his foot on her chest, and said "I know you will lag me, and I may as well be lagged for a sheep as a lamb;" prisoner's brother and another man took him away from her, and she was put into a cab and conveyed to the Infirmary, where she remained twelve days, but is still under treatment for the injuries then received. By Mr. Carroll, for the prisoner: She had not said anything to the prisoner to provoke him; she was perfectly sober. Susan Ellis deposed that she was with prosecutrix on the day mentioned, and saw prisoner knock her down and kick her. By Mr. Carroll: She (witness) had said to prisoner just prior to the assault, "Do you know Chinaman Eighteen?" it was only for a bit of fun that she said it; she had never spoken to him before. Ellen Bogan had not spoken to him. Dr. Marsden deposed that prosecutrix was brought to the Infirmary on the afternoon of the 7th, and complained of considerable pain in the back, and had no power over her right leg—and other injuries, from the effects of which she is still suffering, in the form of temporary paralysis; he found no external mark of injury; in many cases when the spine is injured no external mark is visible. By Mr. Carroll: A kick might produce such injuries, and not necessarily leave a mark. For the defence, Mr. Carroll called John Pickering and William Taylor (prisoner's brother) who contradicted the evidence for the prosecution, both to the striking and the kicking; but that prosecutrix and her witness, both being drunk, annoyed and insulted prisoner, putting their faces against his, when he pushed Bogan away from him and she fell. Mr. Redman, for the prosecution, cross-examined these witnesses. "WHO IS OUR SLANDERER?"

This was the subject of a lecture delivered last night at the Masonic Hall by Mrs. Constable (Miss Joey Gougenheim). The hall was crowded to overflowing; and on the platform were Sir John Robertson, the Hon. James Lackey, and Mr. William Brown, M.L.A.

Punctually at 8 o'clock Mrs. Constable appeared on the platform, and was greeted with applause. She commenced by remarking that she had overheard a remark on board a steamer to the effect that if the ex-priest's statements were not true some one should come forward and refute them. They knew that no priest would do that, but though she was not perhaps in her proper province she had come forward now to show that this firebrand, who had insulted every Catholic woman in the world, had made accusations that were utterly false. That ex-priest quoted from the writings of St. Thomas Aquinas to show that it was the creed of Catholics to condemn all Protestants to death. That was in the twelfth century, when there was not a Protestant on the face of the earth, for the term was not heard of until the sixteenth century. That was at a time too, when there were men who were evil to the grossest degree, and denied even the necessity of the marriage tie. But what good did this ex-priest expect to gain by raking up these skeletons of the past? Did he not know that Catholics could speak by the hour of the cruelties that had been practised on them, and did he not know that they were told by that renegade John Knox that an oath to a Catholic was not binding on the conscience of a Protestant? She could even prove that at one time the laws of their own fair land were worse against the Catholics than the Romish laws ever had been against the early Protestants. But of what avail was it to drag into the present day the dark doings of the days gone by. Why should they not let the "dead past bury its dead," and tell Protestants what the true doctrine of their Church was. It was a Church that believed that all persons whose faith was sincere, and who belonged to a Christian body, could be saved—(applause)—but this Chiniquy would tell them that it was a Church that admitted of no salvation outside its pale. It was no such thing. This ex-priest told them that on one occasion he preached a sermon, in which he told the people that they must not pray to God, but that they must pray to the Virgin. By his own showing, he certainly appeared to have done some very eccentric things, but that he preached the true doctrine of the Catholic Church she distinctly denied. Their catechism told them that it was wrong to give to any creature that worship that was due to God alone. The Catholics, it was true, prayed for the intercession of the saints and angels, just as one Protestant might pray for another here on earth. The Council of Trent was very express on this point. They were not even commanded to pray for the intercession of saints and angels, but they were only told that it was advisable to pray for their intercession, because God might hear them. They honoured and reverenced the Virgin Mother of Christ; but did not every Protestant do so, and did not the Bible tell that all generations should call her blessed. This Chiniquy told that he went on one occasion and told a bishop that he had searched from chapter to chapter and could find nothing about Jesus granting a single request to his mother. Do they not read in one Gospel of Jesus being subject unto his parents, and that surely meant that he gave them the obedience of a loving child. In another Gospel it was recorded that his mother asked him to procure the marriage wine, and that he replied that his hour had not come, meaning his hour for working miracles, but that he eventually yielded to his mother's desire, and thus, in fact, his first miracle was wrought at the request of his mother. (Applause.) And yet this learned ex-priest told his sympathisers that he had not been able to find a single instance. Protestants might forgive him for knowing nothing about Jesus Christ, but what did they say to his knowing nothing about the Gospels. She would now pass to the ex-priest's lecture on the confession, and he said that he failed to find auricular confession earlier than the fifteenth century. He had studied the holy fathers, he said, and could find nothing about. Tertullian, in the second century, wrote that if the people withdrew from confession they ran the danger of hell fire, but confession extinguished hell fire. The lecturer quoted other early writers, and showed that even such Protestant writers as Chillingworth and Luther approved of it. She left to abler brains than hers to show that auricular confession was right; she only wished prove that it was recommended by the early fathers. This man, this Christian man, had insulted every Catholic woman by his unjust remarks. (Applause.) He told them that every girl who attended confession was corrupted (in mind at least) before she reached the age of 12 years, by a system of questions that did not tend to modesty, decency, or virtue. She had always had the thought that modesty was the guardian of a woman's virtue, for when the one was gone the other could not be very safe; and that virtue and purity, according to this priest, were nothing in a Catholic community. Were there men, Protestant men, who might have Catholic wives or Catholic females amongst their friends, believe that of them? and yet this was what the Christian man, who came all the way from Canada to convert them, and who had such love for them, asked them to believe—(laughter)—and who was setting the whole community by the ears. He showed his brotherly love and kindly feelings for them by asking them to believe that the man who shot at the Duke of Edinburgh had been told to do so in a Sydney confessional. He informed them he was nearly hanged in Canada—actually in Canada—not a wild backwood place, where Judge Lynch might be walking about, but in a sober community where English laws existed, and he expected them to believe it all. He would, no doubt, be able to tell, too, how the Catholic Church in New South Wales nearly stoned him to death, and this was their slanderer, the ex-priest. She was not saying one unkind word of Protestants, for they were just as good as they were—(hear, hear)—and she had every reason to say so, for she had married one. (Applause.) This priest had gone over with blast of trumpet and beat of drum, but had there been one who had so done whose life was not a disgrace. Like the well-bred dog who runs out of the house when he sees the preparations for kicking him out, they leave the Church, and any Church was quite welcome to such men, and indeed it amounted to this, that leaving the Church was the only decent thing they had ever done. Catholic men did not require to be told what the confessional was, but a word of explanation was needed by their Protestant friends. The priest, after preparing himself by prayer, sat in the confessional, and when one came in to confess he or she had to recite certain appropriate prayers, and after confession absolution was either granted or refused, as the case might be. It was seldom, indeed, that the priest asked a single question, and when he did it was with the greatest delicacy. (Applause.) There were thousands of women whom this Christian man had slandered, and whom the breath of suspicion had never touched, who could vouch for the truth of this. Was it because there were a few black sheep that the whole flock was to be condemned? There might be priests who used the powers that were given them improperly, but they were acting against the strict doctrines of their Church, and was it reasonable to expect perfection in a body which numbered 100,000, when even amongst the twelve there was a traitor. They had been told, as she stated before, that a girl was corrupted, in mind at all events, at twelve years of age. Let them look at the probabilities of the thing. Why, if that were so, all the Catholic women in the world would be in a conspiracy with the priests against themselves. Just fancy a girl who grows up and is married, and is blessed with children—little ones she loves and cherishes as gifts from heaven. At nine or ten years of age she prepares to send them to confession, to be corrupted as she herself had been corrupted when she was a child. Oh, Protestant mothers, was that likely? They had not only to believe that all priests were infamous, but that all Catholic women were inhuman. Why, if this man's statements were true, motherly love would have been annihilated long ago. This Chiniquy also told them that in London he had been asked by Protestant clergymen to write a book about the confessional, and he said at first he could not, but they prayed—a beautiful prayer it must have been—and at last he consented. That night he wrote the first chapter, and they were pleased with it. Then he told them, to show them was nothing in the book that ladies could object to, that he had submitted the proofs to some eminent ladies, and asked them to strike out anything they saw objectionable, and they said there was nothing at all wrong. Then there was nothing wrong in the confessional, or he wrote a lie and obtained the money for it. Chiniquy might remain on which horn of the dilemma he chose. She now came to his remarks about the blessed Eucharist. There was something so monstrous in these that she left them to himself. Even Luther was far from mocking at this sacrament. Thousands of Protestants believed in it, and all those who were separated from them in the Greek Church believed in it, but Chiniquy did not. He offered for sale consecrated wafers, and at the same time repeated words that she dare not repeat, and then sold these wafers for dollars and half-dollars. They all knew the beautiful Christian story of the man who secured the thirty pieces of silver, and Chiniquy might be like him. She could not review his lecture on purgatory, for it was so full of absurdities, and the story he told about the priest demanding money from a poor woman for the release of her husband's soul from purgatory was not original, but was borrowed from the well-known ballad of Auld Robin Gray. The tale was pathetic and dramatic, but Chiniquy ought to have acknowledged his indebtedness to the little daughter of the distinguished composer of the ballad who was enabled to complete it by the remark of her child—"Why don't you take the cow away." The lecturer recited the beautiful lines of Tennyson about "a lie that is half a truth," which she applied to ex-priest Chiniquy. The Catholic men, she said, must feel deeply the insult that had been offered to their wives and sisters and mothers, but let them leave the man alone. Stone-throwing was no argument, and only gave him a grievance, which was all he wanted. How that knee of his, that had been hurt by a stone at Parramatta, had been pitied. That stone would prove to him a welcome nugget, filling his pocket with the gold from many lectures to come; but let them leave him alone with the scorn that a slanderer of women must ever cause—a slanderer, too, of those whom the ladies of England would acknowledge were virtuous, and who were always present, where sickness or suffering existed. She had only now to thank them for the patient hearing that had been accorded to her. (Applause.)

On her retiring behind the platform, the audience dispersed.

The Loss of the barque Onward.—The Marine Board of New South Wales have held an inquiry respecting the loss of the abovenamed vessel. The evidence adduced, at the examination of Mr. Bryant, the late chief officer, has in substance already appeared. The following additional particulars elicited at the examination will complete the story of the disaster as far as is at present known. The chief officer (having been with his crew landed at Port Mackay) communicated with his owners in Sydney (Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co.), who put themselves in communication with the authorities. On the news reaching the Commodore, he immediately telegraphed to Brisbane and instructed Captain Digby, of H.M.S. Sappho to go in quest of the missing boats. His Excellency the Governor also communicated with the Governor of New Caledonia, requesting that a search might be made in the vicinity of the wreck. Bryant and three of the seamen, who reached Sydney were examined by the Board, when it was found that the vessel was not wrecked on Surprise, but at North Huon Island, the extremity of the reef (Bond's), stretching from New Caledonia. No decision was arrived at as to the cause of the wreck in the captain's absence, but the Board came to the conclusion, from the evidence before them, that no further steps can be taken with any expectation of success to attempt to find the missing boats of the late barque Onward.

The Tasman (s.) left Hobart Town at 9.15 a.m., 23rd; passed Cape Barren at 5.80 a.m., 24th; Cape Howe at 9.30 p.m, 24th, and arrived at Sydney Heads at 10.30 p.m., on the 25th. Had light westerly winds to Cape Barren, strong westerly to Cape Howe, and light N.E. winds to arrival.

The barque Bells, from New Zealand, brings up a cargo of wheat, to be transhipped for London. She has had very heavy weather on the passage.

We (New Zealand Herald, September 18) have had an opportunity of inspecting the yacht which is being built by Messrs. Niccol and Son, at the North Shore, for Mr. J. Newton, of Sydney, the gentleman who purchased the well-known Auckland yacht Secret. Although the latter vessel proved to be a comfortable boat, and suitable to the more exposed racing grounds of this colony, yet she was hardly adapted to compete in Port Jackson with the Magic, the crack yacht of the Australian colonies which spreads a greater amount of canvas. The lines and symmetry of the Secret were, however, quite sufficient to satisfy Mr. Newton that Messrs. Niccol possessed the ability to build a yacht able to successfully cope with the champion boat of Sydney, and the result of this belief is that the above firm have almost completed a yacht which will be afloat next week, and after a few preliminary trials here, she will sail for Sydney. She is constructed of kauri and pohutukawa, copper-fastened throughout, and now that she is sheathed with pure copper, she looks very pretty, and superior to anything ever built in Auckland, while her lines are so fine and symmetrical, that the nautical critics, who have been numerous of late, say they can hardly see them. The saloon will be fitted up with mottled kauri and cedar, and the decorations and upholstery will be such as wealth can command. We regret to learn that the Auckland public will not be able to see the vessel in her racing gear, inasmuch as the trials here will be under canvas supplied for the voyage to Sydney, while her racing gear awaits her arrival on the other side. The rig, of course, will be that of a cutter, which is most conducive to speed and handiness of vessels of her size. She is rather less than the Secret.

The Stock and Share market was a little more active to-day. Bank shares were weak. The commercial summary for the Suez mail will be published on Monday.

Sales of hides, tallow, &c., were held to-day by Messrs. Mort and Co., Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Mr. Bridge, Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Clark, and Mr. Barker. The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1878.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Questions were asked by Messrs. Driver, Lynch, M'Elhone, Barbour, W. C. Browne, J. Davies, W. Davies, Dillon, and Lucas, and answered by Ministers.

Petitions were presented by Messrs. Macintosh, R. B. Smith, Harris, Lynch, Roseby, Dillon, Webb, Farnell, Hungerford, Barbour, J. Davies, Greenwood, W. Davies, and Pilcher.

Mr. Terry moved the second reading of the Justices' Appeal Bill. It would provide a cheap and expeditious mode of securing justice to suitors. It was similar to an Act which had been for some time in force in Victoria, where it had worked well for the public. The lawyers might oppose it, because it meant cheap law. If magistrates wrongfully dismissed a case, there was no appeal; and there ought to be one, as there ought to be where summary decisions were objected to by parties to the proceedings. He explained the provisions of the bill in detail, and hoped at least the non-legal members would support it.

Mr. Leary had at first, on a casual glance, approved of the bill; but now, must oppose it. He did so because it was another Act of prohibition, without repealing or consolidating those already in force and would be an unnecessary complication. A Judge of the Supreme Court had power now to hear appeals of prohibition, and he thought the Act 17 Vic. No. 39 was better than the new bill. If it passed, power to imprison would be given with no power of release under the new statute.

Mr. Pilcher said the bill would make justice dearer and not cheaper. It looked like a clever attempt to pick the pockets of the people. Under the existing statute, a prohibition might be obtained in an hour, but under the bill it would take six weeks, with several costly legal opinions on the steps of the process. At least £60 would be required to cover the costs of a single case, and yet only £20 could be recovered. He should oppose the second reading.

Mr. S. C. Brown said the bill might have worked well in Victoria, because they had no better law there. Here a much simpler, cheaper, and more expeditious law was in force, and there had been no difficulty in working cases under it. He trusted the bill would be scouted by the House. The taunt against legal gentlemen was simply absurd.

The motion was negatived without division.

Mr. R. B. Smith moved the discharge of the order of the day.

Mr. Terry expected the legal members of the House to throw out the bill if they could, and apparently they had succeeded in persuading the Assembly to further the purpose.

The order of the day was discharged, and the bill withdrawn.

The House went into Committee for the further consideration of the City of Sydney Improvement Bill. After debate by Messrs. Driver, Terry, Lucas, Hoskins, Greenwood, J. Davies, M'Elhone, Webb, Hungerford, Roseby, Macintosh, F. Suttor, W. Davies, Beyers, R. B. Smith, Copeland, Leary, Charles, Badgery, several clauses were amended, two were postponed, the rest were agreed to: progress was reported, and leave obtained to sit again on Friday, the 22nd November.

The House went into Committee for the further consideration of the Patent Bill. After discussion by Messrs. R. B. Smith, Burns, S. C. Brown, clauses 1 to 3 were agreed to. Progress was reported and leave obtained to sit again on Friday, the 15th November.

On the motion of Mr. Dillon the expediency was affirmed in Committee of the Whole of bringing in the Marsupials Destruction Bill. The resolution was reported to the House and agreed to.

The House adjourned at ten minutes past 10, until 4 o'clock on Tuesday.

The new bill to provide for the privileges of Parliament has been rushed through at a hand gallop, and without any consideration at all commensurate with its importance. It is, doubtless, an improvement upon the bill introduced by the Government last session, and upon the bill which the Assembly saw fit to substitute for it after the second reading. It is not, however, a safe or satisfactory measure, because it embodies the vicious principle that the two Chambers, the committees, and the members of the colonial Legislature shall possess respectively the privileges, immunities, and powers of the House of Commons, its committees, and its members.

It is proposed in this bill that either House may deal with and punish any offence against its privileges committed by any of its members, or by anybody else, if the offence be committed within the precincts of Parliament; and the procedure and punishment may be such as the House of Commons might adopt under the law and custom of Parliament,—the range of punishment including imprisonment in Darlinghurst gaol during the session. But when an offence against privilege is committed outside the precincts of Parliament by a person who is not a member, the matter will be dealt with in due course of law. The House will direct the Attorney-General to prosecute the offender in the Supreme Court, as for a misdemeanour, and the offender will be indicted and tried by the Judge as in ordinary trials for misdemeanour, and be punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both. In any of these inquiries any copy of the journals of the House of Commons, purporting to have been printed by the order or printer of the House of Commons, will be received as prima facie evidence upon questions of privilege. The remaining provisions of the bill empower either House, and committees of either to summon witnesses and enforce their attendance, and to compel them to give evidence on oath; and make witnesses who give false evidence liable to punishment for wilful and corrupt perjury.

These last provisions are necessary in the public interest, and Parliament should not be left without them a day longer than can be reasonably avoided. Not that either House should abandon its functions as a branch of Legislature, and devote itself permanently to the work of a national inquisition. With so extensive a public service as ours, there must be continually arising matters for inquiry which come within the province of the Executive, and with which the Legislature, in the first instance, would do wrong to deal. But there are other matters of greater magnitude and importance, affecting, perhaps, the character of Ministers themselves, which are legitimately within the scope of Parliamentary inquiry. And there are others again, touching the integrity of members, and the honour of the House, which the House, for its own sake, and for the sake of public morals, should sift to the very bottom. That the House may do its duty in these cases, it should be armed with the necessary powers; and there should be no room for doubt as to its possession of them. It is hardly conceivable that anything could be more injurious to the public interest and more damaging to the reputation and efficiency of Parliament than that charges of corruption against its members should be bandied about, and left in the air without the most searching and thorough investigation. The effect is to lower the tone of public life and the standard of public honour; to familiarize the public mind with the idea of dishonesty in high places, and to make the very name of politician a byword. Let the power to make an effectual inquiry be given, and the House will have no excuse for neglecting to exercise it. The bill deserves support in so far as it would confer this power. Perhaps it would be well if some express provision were added to show that witnesses who were compelled to give evidence would incur no liability if they gave it truthfully.

That part of the bill which relegates the trial and punishment of offences against privilege when committed outside the House to the Supreme Court is also founded on sound principles. Parliament exists for the sake of the public. The public does not exist for the sake of Parliament. If special privileges are held by Parliament, or its members, they are held not for their own interest, but in the interest of the public. A breach of Parliamentary privilege is an injury to the public interest; and it is a mistake to regard it as a matter personal to the individual member, or in the light of the esprit de corps that animates the body to which he belongs. Parliamentary privilege should be upheld by law just as the rights of private property are upheld by law; and a breach of the one should be punished just as a trespass upon or interference with the other is punished. A man who believes he has been cheated is not allowed to seize the suspected offender, try him, convict him, and inflict upon him whatever penalty his caprice or passion may suggest. The State, recognising that fraud is an injury to society, steps in, has the accused tried before a Court maintained for the purpose of conducting trials, and free from personal interest; and when a conviction is obtained, inflicts a punishment that may vary with the circumstances, but only within limits of variation previously prescribed. There is nothing in the nature of offences against Parliamentary privilege to justify their removal from the list of ordinary offences against the interests of society; there is nothing in them to warrant their withdrawal from the jurisdiction of the ordinary tribunals; there is no sound reason why persons accused of such offences should be brought up for trial before a body of men constituted for other than judicial purposes, without training in judicial work, almost of necessity incapacitated for it, and who would be judges in their own cause.

But what does our Council or our Assembly want with the privileges, immunities, and powers, held, enjoyed, and exercised by the House of Commons, "whether they are so held, possessed, or enjoyed by custom, statute, or otherwise?" The preamble affirms that "it is expedient to declare that Parliament possesses such privileges, immunities, and powers as are considered necessary to maintain its dignity and independence, and in view of the more effectual discharge of its functions." It cannot seriously be contended that for either of these purposes, or for all combined, the privileges and powers of the House of Commons, asserted and maintained during a long struggle with the Crown, and some of them handed down from the time when the House of Commons was the sovereign power in the State, are required by the Colonial Legislature, under the conditions now prevailing. The preamble lays a foundation altogether too narrow to support the ponderous and overhanging superstructure which is raised upon it. Let measures be taken to maintain the dignity and independence of Parliament, and to develop a higher degree of efficiency in the performance of its work. But let not these laudable objects be made the excuse for placing the property and the liberties of the people in peril by a deliberate act of legislation.

In commenting upon the free selection system of the colony a fortnight ago, we ventured to surmise that out of the total area purchased from the Crown up to that date more than a million acres had lapsed or been forfeited on account of failure to fulfil the conditions. Since then returns have been asked for in Parliament, and published by the Lands Department, giving the exact area lapsed and forfeited every year since the Act of 1861 came into operation. They more than make good our estimate, for they give the total area which had gone back to the Crown up to the close of last month, as nearly a million and a half acres, or about eleven per cent. of the whole area free selected throughout the colony. In view of discussions soon to commence in Parliament on the new Land Bill of the Government, we will give the particulars for each year, adding the gross area free selected, the net area after deducting the forfeited and lapsed selections, the whole net area held by free selectors at the end of each year, up to the 30th of last September, and the percentage of forfeitures, &c., to purchases.

The estimate of the area purchased during the present year is based on the amount of deposits paid into the Treasury for the last three quarters. In spite of the last two or three bad seasons land is still being taken up under the free selection provisions of the Act at the rate of one and three-quarter million acres per annum, a rate surpassed only by the selections of 1876, and equal to the whole area taken up during the first seven years after the Act was passed. The percentage of lapsed and forfeited selections to purchases varies greatly in different years. No interest on unpaid balances fell due until the close of the first quarter of the fourth year, and during that year a larger proportionate area reverted to the Crown than in any other year for the whole period. The lowest percentages are for the period 1871-76, during which nearly eight million acres were free selected, and the lapsed and forfeited area was less than seven per cent. on the purchases. That is just the time when dummying and black-mailing reached their climax, and it would be no forced interpretation of these figures to infer that the prevalent policy during these six years was to make things easy for the free selector, under whatever plea or pretext he may have settled or squatted upon his conditional purchase.

The return in question gives separately the lapsed and the forfeited selections. A stranger to the working of the Act would not readily understand the reason for the difference. Under clause 18 it is provided that in default of compliance with the conditions of residence, improvement, and payment of the purchase-money "the land shall revert to her Majesty, and be liable to be sold at auction and the deposit forfeited." By this provision it seems 756,530 acres have reverted to her Majesty during the last seventeen years, but which of the conditions was violated does not appear in evidence. Possibly in some cases, land was taken up that did not satisfy the expectations of the selector, and he would sooner forfeit his five shillings per acre deposit than undertake his liability for interest, and the fifteen shillings balance. In many more cases the Crown lessees were using the free-selecting clauses of the Act to prevent their runs being cut up, and five shillings per acre was not thought too much to pay for a three years' secure tenure. Sir John Robertson is never weary of repeating that the revenue is enriched by the forfeited deposits of these men. We are quite willing to make him a present of the argument for what it is worth up to the full value of the deposits on these selections, amounting to about £190,000, with some additional sums, probably, for interest and balances. Even then, the bargain was a bad one for the colony. It was an attempt to override the spirit and intention of the law, and it has created the bitterest class animosities that exist in this land at the present time. No money payment can adequately compensate for evils like these, for the public honour and good faith are beyond all price.

The forfeited area is given at 676,192 acres, and was dealt with presumably under clause 20 of the Act, which provides that selections "abandoned by the purchaser or his legal alienee before the expiration of three years from the date of purchase shall be declared forfeited by notice in the Government Gazette, and may then be sold at auction." Here, also, the liability for interest would not accrue until the termination of the three years' grace, and probably a large proportion of the forfeited selections were used by the Crown lessees as a means of staving off settlement upon their runs. Putting together the area that reverted to her Majesty, and the area gazetted as forfeited, more than one-tenth of the whole conditionally purchased lands of the colony have become once more Crown lands, and therefore, to that extent, it is certain that there has been no settlement under the Act. Could not the Government go a little further and show the area that has been transferred by the original selectors, and also the area of purchased land owned by the Crown lessees on their runs? If we are not mistaken, some returns on this matter were moved for last session, and although, from the nature of the case, they must be voluminous, it is time the public had the benefit of whatever light they may throw upon the agrarian policy of the colony. To be converting three or four million acres of the public domain into private property every year with a population of only three-quarters of a million is a matter of the gravest import to the colony for all generations. The Land law itself was meant to be an instrument for the settlement of the interior, and if it has not settled the interior in proportion to the rate of alienation it is a gigantic mistake and failure. Why go on making crude experiments and groping in the dark on a matter which is so fundamental to the public welfare for all time?

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. M'Elhone has given notice that he will move, in the Legislative Assembly, on Tuesday, November 19, —"That, in the opinion of this House, all obstructions should at once be removed off the Reserves at Botany, and the whole of the Reserves should at once be thrown open to the public."

The Deputy Master of the Mint desires us to call attention to the advertisement inviting applications for the vacant junior clerkship in the Mint. Wednesday is the last day for sending in applications, which should be accompanied with the University certificate.

Some obscurity appears in part of our report of Wednesday's proceedings of the Legislative Council on the Adulteration of Food Prevention Bill. This is owing to the omission of the first portion of the business in Committee. Clauses 1 to 7 were passed without comment, and Sir Alfred Stephen moved the first of a series of new clauses intended to meet the case of selling new alcoholic liquors or spirits containing such a proportion of fusel oil as to render them noxious. Professor Smith thought that the intention of the clause was good, but he feared it would be inoperative owing to the difficulty of proving that the proportion of fusel oil was such as to be injurious to health. Fusel oil, he said, existed in all alcoholic liquors, but the proportion was small in liquors that were good. In legislating against it then, the question was one of degree; and it would be necessary to determine what was sufficient to be injurious. No one could tell what that proportion was. Besides there was the danger of complicating the injurious effect of fusel oil with that of drinking too much spirit. With some amendments, however, the clause might be regarded as presenting their protest against the sale of spirits containing fusel oil. Then followed the remarks of Sir Alfred Stephen as reported.

The proceedings of the special meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council, yesterday, ended in a scene which it is sincerely to be hoped will seldom be repeated. Alderman O'Connor rose to make a personal explanation, and instantaneously the other aldermen rose from the table, leaving Alderman O'Connor ejaculating vociferously, "You are a mean, cowardly lot of men; you are afraid of hearing what I have to say." Matters did not end there, for Alderman O'Connor followed the others into the room where the refreshments are kept, and an interchange of abuse then took place between him and Alderman Green, which would put certain members of Parliament altogether out of the running, so far as a complete repertoire of Billingsgate is concerned. The other aldermen prevented the disturbance going further than words, which it certainly would have done, for the use of such expressions as "liar," "thing," "sneaking hound," &c., is not calculated to preserve men's tempers unruffled. At the meeting, the Aldermen resolved to petition Parliament to amend the Corporation Bill so as to leave the Council free to elect its own chairman, instead of placing the election of Mayor in the hands of the citizens.

The most successful meeting of the present session of the Royal Society, took place last evening, in connection with the Literature and Fine Art Section. Mr. Montefiore presiding. Mr. L. The paper was received with profound attention, and excited considerable interest. A vote of thanks to Mr. Hart for his valuable paper, was put from the chair, and was warmly adopted by the meeting.

The alterations and improvements to Trinity Church, Argyle-street, described at length in this journal a few weeks ago, are now on the eve of completion, and the building will be opened for Divine service by the Bishop of Sydney, to-morrow. The interior of the building has been greatly improved by the alterations, and the church may now be ranked as one of the most handsome in Sydney. Trinity Church was built about forty-four years ago, but from lack of funds the original design was only partly carried out. The side walls and ends were built of stone but the clerestory was of wood, supported on wooden pillars. All the old wood work has now been cleared away, and the whole of the edifice has been finished in stone, with the exception of the tower, which yet remains to be built. The pews and fittings throughout are new, of white pine, nicely polished, the number of each pew being carved in high relief at the end. The seats themselves are shaped in such a manner as to enable the congregation to sit in comfort, and there is plenty of room between them. The gallery at the western end of the church has been removed, and the organ is now placed near the chancel; close to it are the seats for the choir. The church is lighted by twelve windows, all of which are of stained glass, and are handsome specimens of that kind of decorative art. The large window over the communion table is to the memory of the late Mrs. Helenus Scott, the others are all either memorials or are presented by members of the congregation. The building is lighted at night by means of gas coronets around the capitals of the pillars which support the clerestory. The organ, which had to be taken to pieces to be removed, is undergoing a complete overhaul as it goes through the process of reerection. Mr. Blacket is the architect who has had charge of the alteration of the building, and Mr. Moxham is the contractor who has executed the work.

A largely-attended meeting of the International Exhibition Committee was held in the rooms of the Agricultural Society, George-street, yesterday, for the purpose of considering plans and a design for the International Exhibition. His Excellency Governor Robinson occupied the chair. After some formal business had been disposed of, Sir John Hay brought up the report of the Building Committee, relative to a sight for the projected Exhibition. This was strongly in favour of the Inner Domain being selected for the object in view, it being thought that it would afford special facilities for the erection of the requisite buildings on, the land there requiring no great amount of levelling. The committee spoke in favourable terms of Mr. John Young's designs for the contemplated buildings. Those designs comprised plans of two structures, to be built up of bays twenty-one feet square, the number of which might increase or diminish as occasion would necessitate; and great reliance was placed upon them, as the cost of the structures they represented would be within the limits of prospective contributions. The principal exception taken to the designs was on account of their appearance, several of the committee being of opinion that this was not sufficiently ornamental. Mr. Young explained, however, that appearances had to be sacrificed to cost, and that although the buildings did not, on paper, appear ornate, they would be substantial, and if monetary means would permit might be decorated to an appreciable degree. The question of using the buildings and grounds in Prince Alfred Park was also deliberated upon, and it was pointed out that double the space at present available there might be secured by an outlay of about £6000. This, in contra distinction to a possible expenditure of £18,000 for three times the present space being secured in the Domain, was considered sufficient justification for ascertaining on what terms the accommodation at Prince Alfred Park could be trebled, and eventually an adjournment of the proceedings was agreed upon for that object. After this it was resolved to appoint canvassers, who should be paid 5 per cent. on subscriptions they collected. Mr. J. R. Fairfax was elected a member of the Fine Arts Committee, in lieu of being retained on the printing and advertising committee, and the meeting terminated.

Owing to an ambiguity in the wording of a telegram from Coonamble appearing in our issue of Tuesday last, it was erroneously stated that B. Stenglin had received severe injuries through his horse running him against a tree. The accident occurred to Mr. Green.

Mr. Varley's Sunday evening meeting will be held to-morrow at the Protestant Hall. It was intended by his committee to continue the meetings at the Theatre Royal, but owing to some inadvertence or misunderstanding the theatre has been let to Mrs. Hardinge-Britten.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the dead body of a newly-born female infant was discovered by the police in a quarry adjacent to the Park Road, Paddington. The body was wrapped in an old calico petticoat, and, although fully matured, could not have been born more than a few hours. The body was by the police conveyed to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held this morning.

The City Coroner held an inquest yesterday, at the Ice Hotel, Paddington, on the body of a child named William Wilson, aged five years, who died at the residence of his parents in Dowling-street, Paddington, on Thursday evening. From the evidence given by the parents of the deceased, it would appear he was a delicate child, and suffered considerably from toothache, for which his mother was in the habit of giving him brandy occasionally. On Monday last he was in great pain from a hollow tooth, and Mrs. Wilson bought a nobbler of brandy, which she placed in a glass on the washstand, intending to give some to the deceased if he woke in pain during the night. This, however, he did not do, but slept soundly. The next morning Mrs. Wilson noticed that the glass of brandy was empty, and on looking at deceased found that he was in a comatose state, his breath smelling of brandy. About midday he went into convulsions, and Dr. O'Reilly was sent for, and prescribed for him, but to no purpose, as he became worse and died about 5 o'clock on Thursday evening. Dr. O'Reilly deposed that, in his opinion, the convulsions which caused the death of the deceased were caused by an overdose of brandy. The verdict returned was in accordance with the medical evidence.

At a meeting of the Balmain Regatta Committee on Thursday evening, the different sub-committees reported progress, the time for starting each race was settled, and other routine business transacted. Amongst other necessary and salutary regulations framed for the forthcoming regatta is the following:—"Each open boat carrying dead weight shall carry sufficient appliances to float the crew in case of accident." In the case of an upset—a contretemps very probable, considering the large press of sail now in fashion—a wetting only will be the result. It was also reported that in the all-comers' race in wager-boats Laycock will again try conclusions with the champion. As the course selected is peculiarly fitted for small boats, a splendid race and one full of interest should ensue.

The final heats of the maiden and junior double sculls and scratch fours of the Mercantile Rowing Club will take place this afternoon, and will be followed by the presentation of the prizes won at their annual regatta.

About sixty gentlemen connected with the watchmaking and the jewellery trade in this city met at Hook's Hotel on Tuesday evening last, for the purpose of taking the necessary steps to hold a social gathering in the shape of a picnic on an early date. Those who were present were decidedly unanimous in favour of the project; and acting upon the suggestion of the chairman (Mr. E. Hollingdale, of King-street), a committee of nine was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. The secretary (Mr. G. Drake) was instructed to communicate with others connected with the trade, and to invite their co-operation and attendance at the next meeting.

At the picnic in connection with the Nimrod Fishing Club, on Thursday, Captain Heselton, on behalf of the members, presented Mr. John Rogers, for valuable services rendered as hon. secretary, with an artistically chased silver snuff box, bearing a suitable inscription.

The annual school festival of St. Luke's, Burwood, was held on Thursday last. Shortly after nine o'clock the steamer "Nellie" left the Five Dock Pier, conveying the children and their friends and a number of visitors to Chowder Bay; returning at noon to the Circular Quay for the convenience of those who were unable to join the school at Five Dock. In the morning the weather appeared favourable—it was very fine, the sky clear, and a slight breeze blowing; but at about twelve o'clock a strong southerly wind sprang up, the sky became overcast, and the clouds threatened rain. At about one o'clock there was a sharp shower, and fears were entertained by all that they would be obliged to remain under cover for the rest of the afternoon. It was not so, however, for though it continued cloudy, the children were enabled to join in the customary games on such occasions; and, after spending on the whole a pleasant day, the excursionists arrived at Five Dock a few minutes after six o'clock.

The following is the list of the shipping for the past week:—Arrivals from ports: La Hogue, ship, with immigrants, from London; Chimborazo, steamer, from London; Wentworth, steamer, from Fiji. The departures for foreign ports were: Dancing Wave, schooner, for South Sea Islands; Menmuir, steamer, for Hongkong. The intercolonial passenger traffic was as follows: Arrivals from Melbourne, 245; departures to Melbourne, 196; arrivals from Brisbane, 315; departures for Brisbane, 65.

A telegram from Moree states that Mr. John Orr, manager of the branch Bank of Australasia, at that place, was entertained at a public banquet, on Wednesday evening last, on the occasion of his leaving the district for Melbourne, and was presented with an address, accompanied with a gold watch and chain.

The Gladstone Lodge No. 80 of the Independent Order of Good Templars in connection with the Grand Lodge of New South Wales, working under the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of the World, celebrated the first anniversary of its institution at the Temperance Hall, Sydney, on Thursday evening last, the 24th instant, by a tea meeting and public concert. About 250 members and friends were present at the tea, and the number was somewhat increased at the concert. The programme was an excellent one, embracing songs, duets, recitations, and addresses, in which the Misses Joness, Macintosh, Butler, and another young lady (whose name was not mentioned) with Messrs. Weyman, J. Godfrey, H. Godfrey, Ryan, Parker, Smith, Venteman, and G. E. A. Kenney took part. The G. W. C. Templar of New South Wales Brother John Wright presided, and was supported by Brother J. B. Price, G.W.V.T.; James Baker, G.W.S.; T. L. Nicholson, G.W.M.; John S. Shearston, district deputy of royal naval lodges. The G.W.C.T. commenced the proceedings by giving a short pointed address upon the evils resulting from the use of intoxicants, the necessity existing for organized efforts to meet the evil, and the adaptability of Templary to do this good work. He concluded by an earnest appeal to all to come forward and help in this good work "to make the world better and happier." During the evening Brother J. B. Price spoke for a few minutes congratulating the Gladstone Lodge upon its success during its first year. The G.W.S., Brother James Baker, also gave a short address. He was happy to inform the meeting that the order he represented was spreading, as would be seen by the fact that the Gladstone Lodge was No. 80, and was instituted just about twelve months ago. They had since brought up the regular number of lodges to 104, and some half-dozen other lodges were now in course of formation. During the last year they had successfully introduced the order into Hay, Riverina, Spring Terrace, Cobargo, East Maitland, Fredrickton, Molong, Ulladulla, Onebygambah, Milton, Forbes, Nambuccra, Morpeth, Dungog, Tomerong; and since the Order, in October, 1876, had pledged its allegiance to the R. W. G. L. of the world they had more than doubled the number of lodges and members, and that too after deducting those who had left them to join the American Order. The proceedings terminated about 10 o'clock by the audience singing the National Anthem.

Yesterday morning a fire broke out in a building in the rear of the premises of Biddell, Brothers, Lower George-street, which but for the timely action taken by the neighbours might have proved most serious. The building where the fire broke out is used as a boiling-room, and is built of weatherboards. It is supposed that the bricks of the fireplace became over-heated and set fire to the boarding. As soon as the fire was noticed several neighbours rushed in and extinguished the flames with buckets of water before any damage worth mentioning had been done. Several fire-engines soon arrived on the spot, but their services were not required.

The prospectus of the New Zealand Land and Loan Company (limited) has been issued at Wellington. The capital is to be one million, in 200,000 shares of £5 each, with power to increase. 100,000 shares are proposed to be placed in New Zealand and 100,000 to be reserved for subscription in the United Kingdom. The operations of the company are to be confined to landed property.

The "Athenæum" of August 24 states:—"A curious addition to Petofi literature has just been printed at Kolozvart. It is a small quarto brochure of eight pages, of which only thirteen copies have been printed, and is entitled 'Petofi Ausztriaban es Ausztraliaban.' The contents include a translation into Lowland Scotch of one of Petofi's love lyrics, made by a Miss Gordon, of Victoria, and originally published in the 'Melbourne Review,' an Australian quarterly."

The Tasmanian Legislative Assembly was invited by the Government to grant a sum not exceeding £8000 to Mr. James Smith, of Westwood, River Forth, in recognition of his long-continued and ultimately successful labours in search of mineral deposits in Tasmania, but as several hon. members objected, it was decided to grant Mr. Smith a pension of £200 a year instead.

A German paper describes Prince Henry of the Netherlands as one of the richest princes in the world. A silver mine in America brings him a princely income, and he has many Dutch, Russian, and other bonds, with ninety-nine properties in Holland—the maximum number, for the King only can own 100—and some in other countries.

In the appendices to the Education report, laid on the table of the Victorian Legislative Assembly, Mr. J. Baldwin, inspector of the Geelong district, states:—"In all parts of the district Roman Catholic parents avail themselves of the State schools for the education of their children when left to their own free choice. An inspector visiting the various groups of families in his district, and coming in contact with all classes, has excellent opportunities of learning the feeling of the country, or of sections, in regard to the State schools. The conclusion I have honestly arrived at is that the Catholics as a body accept the Act, and are satisfied with the education given in State schools. I can instance Catholic parents who, while subscribing to the Denominational school in their locality, send their own children to the State school on account of the superiority of the instruction and discipline. In the staffs there is a fair proportion of Catholic teachers; and a kindlier feeling and mutual respect, consequent on better knowledge, obtain more generally between teachers of different faiths than when they were kept asunder by the Denominational system. During the five years spent in school inspection I have met with no instance where there has been any collision on religious or sectarian grounds between teacher and teacher, teacher and scholars, or teacher and parents. I have no wish to hide the fact that, with the exclusion in State schools of religious instruction by the teachers, thousands of children in the rural districts are growing up in comparative ignorance of what is called revealed truth. Many schools are five, ten, or fifteen miles from the nearest church; and the children are dependent entirely on home instruction, itself often defective, for their knowledge of faith and religious duty. The State is cognisant only of the professional fitness of a teacher, not of the moral or religious qualifications; but it seems to me imperative that teachers, who have such a large share in the formation of a child's mind and character, should be men and women of high moral worth. With teachers of the right sort we may secure a sound moral tone in the school, and free it from influences antagonistic to religion; but an awakened sense of responsibility on the part of parents and the clergy must be trusted to supplement the school education by home training and religious instruction."

The farmers about Eudunda, South Australia, are so delighted that the Legislature has passed an Act for the compulsory and simultaneous destruction of rabbits, that on the evening of Friday, October 18, they celebrated the event by a huge bonfire, around which they had a sort of gathering of the clans for mutual congratulations at the approaching death of the "bunnies."

MR. BERRY ON CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM.

[By Telegraph.]

(From our own Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Chief Secretary and party proceeded to Clunes to-day to lay the foundation-stone of public offices there. Mr. Berry, in laying the foundation-stone was well received. He complimented the people on the intelligent interest they manifested in public affairs, and said he was glad the country appreciated the efforts of the Government to settle the question of constitutional reform. He was confident, if an appeal to the country became necessary, they should receive generous support. He said he believed the people would not choose tamely to submit to the veto of the Council, a Chamber which had done its utmost to bring anarchy and distress on the colony. It would be the height of folly for the people to allow the chance of such a danger arising in the future. The people should declare that the question must be settled "holens volens," before accepting whatever else was done. He did not wish to prejudice what the Council might do with the bill, but a committee was now sitting the probable result of which would be nil. If any reasonable effort was made to bring about a reasonable compromise, he would still be prepared to settle the question that way; but if all reasonable efforts failed here, the Government must appeal to the Imperial Parliament to remove a difficulty, dangerous not only to the colony, but what might prove dangerous to the Imperial connection itself. He would do all in his power not to let this question pass from the public mind until settled in a reasonable and proper manner.

AMATEUR TURF CLUB MEETING.

The entrances for the Hunter River Amateur Turf Club Races to take place on the 9th November will close on Monday next.

The members of the Sydney Grammar School have set our schools an example by the formation of a Rowing Club. On Friday, October 11th, a meeting of those interested in aquatics was held, at which Mr. Weigall presided. It was at once decided that a club should be formed, and the following officers were elected:—President, Mr. A. B. Weigall; vice-presidents, Messrs. L. Stephenson and J. Goldie; captain, W. J. W. Neill; vice-captain, W. B. Fairfax; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. J. Fache; hon. secretary, James Mullins. It was also determined by the meeting that the above officers, together with T. H. Barker and F. Wilkinson should form the committee. The club is making rapid strides, and already the "black and gold" caps may be seen dotting the harbour. Two gig crews have been formed, one representing the "honors" in connection with the school, and the other, captained by Neill, which represents those who are not so situated. The number of club boats is necessarily small at present, and many ex-students and other persons interested in the school have expressed their intention of co-operating in the undertaking of placing the club in a high position. The energy displayed by the scholars in permanently adding aquatics to their list of athletic sports is highly commendable, and deserves encouragement.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Theatre Royal the drama of "The Forsaken" has been so well received that the management do not consider it advisable to withdraw it. It will be reproduced this evening, and is likely to be retained on the boards for some time, should the support hitherto accorded be maintained.

The Victoria Theatre has had to compete with the Queen's, as the same piece has been produced, so far as the plot is concerned, at both theatres. At the former "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is to be withdrawn, and Augustus Daly's sensational piece, "Under the Gaslight," is to be produced this evening with a very strong caste. The rôles of Snorkey and Byke are usually considered the best in the drama, and as Mr. W. South and Mr. Collier assume them respectively, the humourous element is likely to be well supported. Miss Mattie Daniels, Miss Anstead, and Miss Fanny Wiseman have excellent parts—the first and last having good songs. Hence the performance should be a most successful one, if the merits of the corps dramatique are to be taken as a prophetic criterion.

At the Queen's the Georgia Ministrels, supported by some extra talent, have devoted their attention to "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which appears to have been so far such a pecuniary success that there is no immediate intention of taking the piece off the boards, and it will probably run during the week. The drama itself is of the morbidly-religious character, as the plot of the work from whence it is drawn amply testifies. It can hardly be said to improve under the dramatist's hands, nevertheless there are occasional opportunities given in the text for sentimental impersonation of the highest order, and those who admire the plot and text of Mrs. Stowe's celebrated work will find very little interpolation in the acting version.

Mr. Burnand, a pianist of high repute, purposes giving a concert early in the ensuing week, which is to be devoted entirely to pianoforte instrumentation. If not too late, it would be perhaps not out of place to suggest to Mr. Burnand that a concert of this kind is not likely to be so attractive as it might be made with a little vocalization; and as the public have had little opportunity latterly of hearing Mendelssohn's part songs, or any English glees, a very pleasing feature might be introduced to counterbalance the monotony of simple pianoforte music.

Few entertainers have sought the patronage of the public of Sydney with so much success as Professor and Clara Baldwin in their exposition of much of the so-called "spiritualism" of the present day. Nightly the Guildhall is crowded, and the interest taken in the extraordinary performances in no way abates. The public were becoming so nauseated with the silly trickeries and fatuous, incoherent, meaningless talk of "spirits" as given through mystical mediums, that it is something quite refreshing to meet with such adepts as the Baldwins, with their intensely clever deceptions, acknowledging that those deceptions are accomplished by none other than human agency. The performance is exceedingly clever, and it is as popular as it is clever. A slight change in the entertainment has taken place nearly every evening.

THE NEW VERSION OF THE BIBLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Chatting with Dr. Angus, one of the committee for the revision of the Scriptures, just before leaving England in May of last year, he said, "Many will be surprised to find that in the new translation they will have very little alteration. It is the same grand old Volume in all its integrity." Some alterations, caused by change in the modern meanings of words, will appear; many of the italicised additions in the former translation will disappear, whilst such alterations as serve to bring out more fully the meaning of the oldest manuscripts will be found. Those who know Alford's translation of the New Testament understand that it is, to all intents and purposes, identical with that commonly in use. To call the revised translation a new Bible, or to speak of it as impugning the veracity of that in use, is distinctly and utterly contrary to the truth: and it is an important factor in the case that the highest erudition of this century thus stands in accord with the present translation of the inspired Volume.

Yours, &c., HENRY VARLEY.

BALMAIN COFFEE HOUSE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of 24th instant, I observe a paragraph to the effect that a correspondent stated that he some time ago subscribed to the fund for the establishment of a coffee house at Balmain, and wished to know what had become of the money so collected. Will you allow me briefly to answer this question.

Funds were collected for the purpose stated, and the sum of £80 7s. 6d. obtained. What were considered by the committee of management suitable premises, situated in Darling-street, were secured and furnished, at a cost of some £73, the place made as attractive as circumstances would admit, and fairly started. But, owing simply to the want of support from those for whom the house was intended, at the end of four months the committee found themselves heavily in debt for rent, &c., and with no prospect of matters mending. There being, therefore, no other alternative, they were compelled to sell the furniture to meet liabilities, and after so doing there is a small balance, which I understand will be handed over to some charitable institution.

It is greatly to be regretted that the movement has ended in failure; but as already explained, the fault, if fault there be, is not chargable to the committee but to those who failed to support the house.

I shall be glad at any time to allow those who subscribed to inspect the books of account connected with the matter.

I am, &c., WILLIAM PARKER,
Secretary Balmain Coffee House.

Darling-street, Balmain.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Wool: The new clip is arriving pretty freely, but few lots are sufficiently complete to be offered for sale yet. The catalogues this week consisted chiefly of small parcels, only one or two large lines being offered, one of which, in the grease, from Riverina, brought 12½d per lb. Competition was keen for all good parcels offered of both fleece and greasy, but scoured wools were neglected. Seedy and burry descriptions were salable only at greatly reduced prices, and we regret to notice the prevalence of both seed and burr in most of the clips already arrived. Quotations—Greasy, 7d to 12½d; fleece, 15d to 22d; scoured, 12d to 22d per lb. Sheepskins: The supply forward this week was rather short; prices, however, showed a considerable falling off as compared with late ruling rates, full-woolled skins realising from 6d to 7d; medium growth, 4½d to 5½d; short, 3½d to 4½d; pelts, 1½ to 3d per lb. Leather: No alteration to note in this market. Sole and harness remain very depressed. Prices realised at auction on Tuesday were, for kip, 13d to 16d; sole, 6½d to 8½d; calf, 22d to 26d; tweed, 18d to 27d; harness, 11d to 13d per lb.; bag, 8s 6d to 11d; bridle, 9s to 10s 6d per side; basils, 4s to 8s 6d per dozen. Tallow: The market remains unaltered; the attendance of buyers was small. Prices ranged from £21 to £29 for beef, and £28 to £30 for mutton tallow per ton. Hides: The supply this week was again small, but proved quite equal to the demand. Extra heavies only commanded good attention, and brought up to 3½d; medium and light weights were easier. Horse hides were scarce, and sold fairly. Calfskins very dull of sale; yearlings in fair demand. At our sale prices ranged as follows: Extreme heavies, 3½d to 3½d; heavies, 3½d to 3½d; medium, 2½d to 3½d; light, 2½d to 3d per lb; horse hides, 2s 6d to 7s; calf, 6d to 2s; yearling, 2s 6d to 4s each. Horns and bones sell well at from 20s to 30s per ton for horns, and £4 to £9 per ton for bones. Hair: Market unaltered. Beeswax in demand at 1s to 1s 1d per lb.—October 25.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Wool: 1361 bales offered, and 455 sold. Wool is coming forward more freely, and there are portions of several large clips now in store awaiting the balance before submitting for sale. There was a large proportion of free and better grown wools in the catalogues of this week, and we noted good competition for these, and when sales were made fair values were given. For the burry and seedy wool the buyers did not care to do business, except at low valuations. There was a full attendance of buyers. Our latest cablegram from London advises that there will not be a large quantity offered, probably not over 180,000 bales, and this will include what was held over from the previous sales. The date fixed for the opening of the next London series is 20th November. Prices ranged—Greasy, 7d to 12½d; scoured, 14½d to 18½d; fleece, 13d to 20½d. Sheepskins: We had a fair competition at our sales, and, considering prices of scoured wools, fair values were given. We cleared our catalogues at quotations given below, viz.:—Best, 6½d to 7d; good, 4½d to 6d; shortwoolled and pelts, 2½d to 4d. Tallow: 437 casks offered, 54 sold; no shipping buyers at to-day's sales, and only a limited demand for trade parcels. Quotations—Best mutton, £30 to £31; beef, £29 to £30; mixed and station, £21 to £27. Hides: 2934 offered, 1916 sold. The market remains without any material alteration, the short supply still continues, and in the absence of any buyers for export, the supply is equal to the demand:—Extra heavy, 3½d to 3½d; heavy, 3½d to 3½d; medium, 3d to 3½d; light and middling, 2½d to 3½d. Leather: Market still dull, and little business doing; dressed leathers, except first-class lots, rather easier; harness still difficult to quit; sole, no demand for shipping, fair trade inquiry. Quotations—Sole best, 9d to 10½d; medium, 8d to 8½d; light, 7d to 7½d; kip, best 16d to 17d; medium, 14½d to 15½d; harness, best 12d to 13d; medium, 10½d to 11½d; bridle, 10s to 12s 6d; bag, 10s to 12s; cow tweed, 20d to 25d; medium, 16d to 18d; horse tweed, 20d to 24d; calf, 25d to 30d. Tin Ore: Only a very limited quantity has come to hand during the week. We are glad to notice a slight improvement in the market, and hope that prices will go on hardening until we have the value up so that it will pay the owners of mines to commence working again. The ore that has been held over for some time has been sold, and the smelters have now to depend upon what is coming forward week by week. We have sold about 50 tons since our last report. Tin: Our latest cablegram is dated the 22nd instant, and the value of metal on that date in London is given at £55 10s; this is £2 10s per ton better than it was a week earlier. There is little or no disposition to speculate here except at low figures.

Mort and Co.—Wool: We found the demand active again this week, especially for fairly conditioned parcels. Among our sales at auction was the Murril Creek clip in grease, which realised 12½d per lb. for the fleece, 8½d pieces, and 7½d for bellies. A number of the other lots offered were very much infested with seed and burr, though otherwise in good condition, and for these the demand was more limited. Washed wools are as yet in small supply, and are in good request. We quote as follows—Greasy fleece, good to superior, 10d to 12½d; medium, 8½d to 9½d; faulty, 6½d to 7½d; washed fleece, fair to good, 16½d to 19d; superior, none available; inferior and faulty, 13d to 15d; scoured fleece, 20d to 22d; ditto skinwool, 14d to 19d per lb. Sheepskins were in full supply, and sold readily at quotations, viz.: Medium to full-fleeced, 4½d to 6½d; pelts and short-grown, 2½d to 4½d per lb. No very good lots were submitted. Leather: There was a slightly better disposition to do business at Tuesday's sale, but prices are still unremunerative to tanners. Quotations—Sole, 6½d to 7½d for medium, 8d to 9½d for best; kip, 13d to 17d; harness, 10½d to 13d; cow tweed, 20d to 22d; yearling tweed, 21d to 23d per lb.; basil, 6s to 9s per dozen; bag, 9s to 12s per side. Hides: Owing to the low prices ruling for leather, and the absence of buyers for export, the hide market did not show much animation at to-day's auction sales. Quotations—Heavy, 3½d to 3½d; medium, 2½d to 3½d; light and dry, 2½d to 3½d per lb. Horse Hides are in limited supply, and without improvement in price. Large sizes are worth from 6s to 7s 6d per hide; small to medium, 3s 6d to 5s. Kangaroo Skins: Small sizes are difficult to quit, but medium to large are worth from 10d to 24d each. Hair: The purchases made are for local use only, and horse tail is worth from 13d to 15d; mane, 8d to 10d; and mixed, 11d to 12½d per lb. Horns are in limited supply, but prices are without improvement. Medium to large are worth from 20s to 30s per 100, and small 10s to 15s. Shank Bones: Old and inferior are difficult of sale, but best descriptions bring from £8 to £11 per ton. Tallow: There is some inquiry for shipping parcels, but without much business resulting: and to do business with the trade, low rates have to be accepted. Prices rule as follows:—Beef, £29 to £30; mixed, £26 to £28; and mutton, £31 to £32 per ton.—October 26.

STOCK AND STATIONS.

P. N. Trebeck.—Stations: There is nothing new to report as to the sale of stations this week. The scarcity of money and the general unsettled state in the commercial world will tend to deter capitalists from investing so freely as they would. I have had buyers inquiring for really good sheep stations, and some properties have been placed under offer for inspection. The demand for cattle properties is very limited. Since the last drought most capitalists prefer sheep stations, but they will doubtless soon come into favour again. Store Cattle: All negotiations are at a reduction on late prices. Some bullocks, 2 to 4 years, have been sold in the Port Curtis district at £3 10s; mixed sexes, 1 to 3 or 4 years, are worth 55s to 65s, according to quality and place of delivery. Store Sheep: Really good store wethers are in fair demand. Vendors are asking 6s 6d to 7s. Some few sales have been made at 6s 6d. Young ewes, with lambs at foot, are also saleable. Fat Cattle: About 1500 yarded. The market still continues in a depressed condition. A few of the best yards of Riverina bullocks realised fully last week's rates. As many were only of inferior quality a further reduction took place, and prices may be quoted at from 5s to 10s per lower than last week's rates. Best yards realised up to 22s per 100 lbs., and medium from 18s to 20s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: About 12,000 penned. The market being fully supplied this week, prices show no signs of improving, and may be quoted a shade lower than last week's rates. Best pens in wool may be quoted at 13s; and medium from 9s 6d to 11s per head.—October 25.

Sullivan and Simpson.—Stations: We are glad to say that there are a few Melbourne buyers now in the market, and we have during the week offered a very fine fenced sheep and cattle station in our western district, and buyers have gone to inspect, which we have every hope will lead to a sale. Fat Cattle: A very full supply again forward this week, the condition of all being good, except some two lots that were brought by road from distant stations, which were much wasted, and showed a great contrast to those brought by rail from the Murrumbidgee district. On Monday 656 were penned, and on Thursday 755, in all 1411 for the week's supply, besides one lot that was turned out unsold. On Monday there was a fair attendance of buyers, but on Thursday we noticed very few country dealers present. However, with the assistance of that very valuable institution, the Meat-preserving Company (or as we have repeatedly called them the "Squatters' Insurance Company"), all were sold at satisfactory prices, considering the large supply. We quote best prime pens of bullocks, light weights worth 23s per 100 lbs., prime heavy bullocks not being so valuable owing to the heat of the weather, and therefore may be quoted at 21s per 100 lbs.; fair to good, 17s to 18s; all others proportionately. Our sales this week have been 200 bullocks on account of the Hon James White, at an average of £8 5s 7d all round. These cattle were not brought by train, and only cost 2s 6d per head delivered at Homebush by road, and therefore nett a higher price to the owner than any cattle sold during the week. We have also sold, on account of Messrs. Gibson and Wadge, 116 cows and bullocks by road (much wasted), at an average of £5 0s 10d. Fat Sheep: The supply this week was above requirements, particularly as the wholesale men have a large number arriving every week on their own account, bought outside; and until their purchases are cleared off, we must expect low prices to rule, as they are the principal buyers. We were glad to notice Mr. Gee, the manager of the Sydney Meat Company, purchasing a few; but, notwithstanding his efforts to assist the sales, the market may be quoted 1s per head lower on all descriptions compared to last week's rates. We quote best wethers, in wool, worth 12s 6d to 13s, by the flock; shorn ditto, up to 8s; all others proportionately. Store Stock: The only inquiries we have had this week were for three and four year old wethers that have been shorn early; but, as the squatters are now busy shearing, there are very few lots in the market. Quotations, therefore, nominal.—October 25.

Brunker, Wolfe, and Badgery's Report.—Stations: We have nothing new under this head to report. We are negotiating for the sale of several large properties. Fat Cattle: We have had a full supply this week, but prices have held surprisingly well, and all yarded have been cleared at fully last week's rates. From the numbers we are advised of approaching market we look for improvement next week. Quotations for best drafts of bullocks, £8 10s to £9; medium ditto, £7 to £7 10s; light weights selling best. Our sales have been—141 cows (Swift's) at £7 1s 9d, 30 bullocks (Ryan's) at £8 9s 8d, 29 ditto (Cooper's) light at £6 17s 9d. Fat Sheep: Market fairly supplied, and closing sales showed an improvement on Monday's prices. We look upon this as only temporary, and see nothing much above boiling values before us. Our sales have been—Taylor's shorn wethers, 7s 6d to 8s 2d; also 600 small shorn ewes at 5s 3d. Fat Calves: An over-abundant supply by steamer and rail, and prices much lower. We have sold 27 (E. H. Badgery's) at 16s, 35 (Badgery, Brothers) at 17s 6d, 39 (Donkin's) at 24s. Fat Lambs: Again more than sufficient for requirements, and prices easier. We do not see any chance of a rise unless the supply is shortened considerably, as nearly every buyer is full up. We sold 40 (G. L. Loder's) at 14s 6d, which is the best average of the week. Store Cattle: We are offering some grand lots of bullocks and cows, but find sales very difficult to effect unless at low prices. Bullocks are offering at £4; cows at £2 10s. We have sold several lots on the Hunter at these prices. Store Sheep: Though there are inquiries for sheep of fattening ages, buyers are cautious, and we cannot quote wethers over 6s 6d; ewes, 5s to 9s 6d. Horses: Though there is a fair demand for really good stamps, the market is not so good as we expected at this time of year, and anything to sell even fairly must be good of its kind.—October 25.

William Inglis.—Fat Cattle: There have been a fair number yarded this week, but the market continues very firm, and was slightly higher to-day. I do not expect, however, that the present rates will hold much longer. Best beef is worth from 22s 6d to 25s per 100 lbs. I sold 97 head (Dunn and M'Kinnon's) at quotations. Sheep: The market is abundantly supplied, and prices much easier, wethers in fleece bringing 9s to 12s, shorn 5s 6d to 8s 6d. Milch Cows: The sale was rather dull, and all except good ones are very difficult of sale. I sold 24 from £3 12s 6d to £8 10s. Calves: There was a very large number in. I sold—164, according to quality, from 8s 6d to 41s. Lambs: Good command fair prices, but inferior very dull of sale. I sold—119 from 4s to 10s 6d. Pigs: Supply moderate, market very good and prices much higher. I sold 98 from 13s 6d to 59s. Horses: A considerable number have been sold during the week, and prices have slightly improved. My sales were—46 (M'Connell and Barry), £9 to £39 10s; 10 (Fennell's), £5 10s to £16; 14 (Phillis'), £6 to £27, and 13 others from £4 5s to £23. I have another splendid lot of M'Connell and Barry's advertised for Tuesday next, 29th instant.—October 24.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Stations: Since our last report we offered, by auction sale, Goonian Station, with 4800 head of cattle, and did not succeed in placing same; but we are in treaty with parties for sale privately. We have to call attention to sale by us, next Wednesday, the 30th instant, at Exchange, of the Dungarutta and Tuckii Tuckii stations, on Richmond River, with 5000 head of cattle. Fat Cattle: 1468 yarded for the week's consumption, 818 being penned for Monday; the quality of same, with one exception, being from middling to fair. Of the various lots offered, those from the western districts and by road were much cut up, and sold badly compared with trained cattle, butchers preferring the latter; and closing sales showed a decline on low quality cattle of 5s to 10s per head. Medium beef may be quoted at 18s to 20s, and prime 21s to 22s. On Thursday an average supply came forward, chiefly by rail, the quality being exceptionally good, particularly those from the southern district; some prime oxen and cows from the station of Mr. T. H. Mate, and sold by us, making top figures, viz., from £9 10s to £11 9s. Sales were well attended, and for prime pens late rates were maintained. We sold 58 bullocks (J. Robinson's), £8 15s; 22 cows (J. Robinson's), £6 6s; 51 mixed (J. Jenkins's), £6 2s 8d; 30 ditto (Wormall and Blaney's), from £6 4s to £11 9s; 30 bullocks (P. H. Osborne's), from £6 7s to £7 8s; (J. Larkin's), from £5 5s to £5 19s; calves (J. Jenkins's), from 21s to 30s. Fat Sheep: 11,659 penned, with the usual number from outside purchases by the trade, caused a great reduction on former quotations, more noticeable on low quality full-fleeced sheep, for which store rates are hardly obtainable; the best mutton being carcassed at 1½d and 1½d per lb. at the Abattoirs, being about equal to boiling rates. We sold—1560 wethers (J. Strickland's), from 7s 6d to 8s 6d; 547 (J. Atkinson's) at 10s 9d; 581 (L. Doyle's) at 7s; 1320 mixed (G. Traine's), at 7s to 7s 5d; 750 wethers (Cadell's), from 7s 4d to 7s 6d; 350 (Cobb and Co.'s), from 11s 6d to 12s 6d; 2000 (H. and C. Douglass's), 12s 6d outside; 529 lambs, from 5s to 11s 6d. Store Cattle: We have to report a sale by us during the week of 1600 head of bullocks at £4 4s, and have also three other lots under offer, and hope to be in a position shortly to advise further sales. The demand, although limited, shows a tendency to increase. Store Sheep: We have nothing fresh to report under this heading.—October 25.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Fat Cattle: For Monday's sale a full supply were yarded, including four lots of North-western cattle, about half of which were of very light medium quality. There was a fair attendance of buyers, but the market showed no alteration upon last week's rates, best beef selling from 18s to 22s per 100 lbs. 600 were forward for Thursday, chiefly of good quality, and including some prime lots from the Murrumbidgee. The presence of a few country buyers caused a better demand, and prices showed an advance of about 7s 6d per head at the closing sales. Best pens may be quoted at about 24s per 100 lbs., others from 18s to 22s 6d. Our sales were on Monday—109 bullocks (Kennedy's), from the Warambungle, at £8 7s 6d, topping the market by over 20s per head; also 44 bullocks (Blackett's), from Bogera, Merri Merri, at £5 3s 3d, and 59 cows at £4 6s 10d; and on Thursday 52 bullocks (Hill and Hector's), from Grawhey, at £7 11s 6d, and 48 cows (ditto) at £6 17s 7d; 2 bullocks (Flood's) at £7 13s, and 18 bullocks at £4 17s. Fat Sheep: A full supply forward, and the trade are still having large numbers from Riverina, causing the market to be very much depressed and sales difficult to effect. No improvement can be looked to for some weeks, as large numbers of shorn sheep are now coming forward; 56 lbs. cannot be quoted over 13s in the wool; 50 lbs., 11s; others from 7s, and shorn about 4s less. We have sold (M'Culloch's) 1193 wethers from Colane, 9s 1d to 9s 4d; 1006 ewes (W. Morris's) from Colimer, 9s 3d to 9s 6d; a portion of the wethers from same place to 10s 6d, and 61 lambs at 8s 4d, and 1078 wethers (A. H. M'Culloch's) at 9s 3d.—October 25.

G. M. Pitt and Sons report:—Stations: Business under this heading remains exceedingly dull, notwithstanding that the season in most parts of the colony is all that can be desired. The unsettled state of the wool market and high rates of interest for money no doubt deter buyers from making investments. Fat Cattle: 1500 forward. Of this number about four-fifths passed the yards, the remainder were direct arrivals to the trade. Sales this week passed off better than was anticipated, the market being steady throughout, and prices quite equal to those obtained last week. We again topped the market with 130 bullocks of Messrs. T. and S. Learmonth's, being the third draft from their Groongal station (not station breds). They were of excellent quality, and averaged £9 all round. The manager of the Meat Co. bought a good number, and helped materially to strengthen the market. We quote best beef worth 22s 6d per 100 lbs., fair to good from 20s to 21s per 100 lbs. Our sales have been 130 bullocks (T. and S. Learmonth's) as above, at £9; 138 bullocks, delivered on the Lachlan, at £7 12s 6d; 12 cows (ditto) at £5 10s. Fat Sheep: There has been a considerable decline in this market during the week, and present prices are only a shade over boiling values. The Meat Company bought about 3000, which otherwise must have gone to the pots. Prime shorn wethers, 53 lbs., have been sold at 7s 6d, and 52 lb. wethers, in full fleece, at 10s 9d to 11s 6d. We do not expect any improvement on present prices for some time to come. Our sales have been 500 wethers at 13s. Store Stock: We have had inquiry for breeding ewes, and will be glad to receive particulars of any such for sale. Store cattle are not in much demand except at very low prices.—October 25.

At present the market is well supplied with foreign and colonial timber, and the building trades on the whole busy, and a demand for hardwood timber of sizes.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

J. C. Glue reports: no change in this market. The supply and demand, with some exceptions, meet. Female domestic servants, as usual, are scarce, and most difficult to get for country situations. Building operatives find ready work. Harvest prospects are good for those engaging in that occupation. The ship La Hogue with immigrants has arrived, and owing to sickness has been placed in quarantine. The large steamships from England have brought numbers of passengers available for this market; there are numerous arrivals from other colonies also. Engagements, including board and lodging, have been made at per annum with—Married couples, £60 to £70; men cooks for hotels, £52, £65, £91, £156; surveyors' cooks, £52, £65; waiters, £78; barmen, £78; grooms and coachmen, £52; gardeners, £45, £52; grocers' assistants, £65; surveyors' labourers, £52, £65; farming-men, £35, £40; garden labourers, £40; female cooks, £40, £45; laundresses, £40, £45; housemaids and parlourmaids, £32, £35; Nurses, £26, £32; general servants, £26, £35.—October 25.

SYDNEY PRODUCE PRICES CURRENT.

The grain and flour market is hardening. Meat has risen in price. Eggs and poultry of all sorts are quoted at a higher figure, and are in good demand. Fruit and vegetables continue at nearly the same quotations.

The following are the latest ruling prices:—

The Mills.—Fine flour, ton of 2000 lbs., £13. Bran (per bushel), 4s to 4s 2d; maize, 4s to 4s 3d; wheat, 5s 3d to 5s 9d.

HORSE MARKET.

George Kiss reports the supply of horses larger than usual the past week, and in consequence the prices, unless for very superior animals, dropped considerably. At the Bazaar, I sold a good many cart horses from £20 to £35 10s; and some useful harness horses from £10 to £25; lighter sorts, £5 to £10. Well-bred stylish horses, suitable for carriage work, scarce and inquired for.—Sydney, October 24.

Russia and her Agents.—The Cologne Gazette remarks that the events of the last few years have once more exhibited in the most striking light the wonderful gift possessed by leading statesmen in Russia of selecting the right man for any place they have to fill, and put him forward or place him out of sight as occasion may desire. When their object was to trouble political waters, to create disturbances, and embroil their neighbours they had their man ready for the work, and no diplomatist was half as much talked of at the time as General Ignatieff. He succeeded, indeed, in his work beyond what might have been conceived as possible. Who would have believed only four years ago that the Bulgarians were destined to become the cause and the centre figure of a great war? All that was known of them then was that they were a well-to-do flourishing race, with no material wants or hardships to complain of, but given to intriguing, and therefore, if anything, less sinned against than sinning. General Ignatieff, however, in a short time succeeded by means of the "Bulgarian Atrocities" in making Europe believe that they were an oppressed race, trodden down with an iron heel, and the persons most deserving of commiseration and assistance in the universe. Russia made a great war for them, and having conquered, General Ignatieff played his part to the end by imposing terms on the vanquished which astonished the world by their unheard of exorbitance. At this point the General's rôle came to an end. Brazenfaced insolence had done its work, and the time had come for suavity and a show of concession and meek peaceableness. Accordingly General Ignatieff was withdrawn from the stage, and Count Schouvaloff brought forward. He played his part in his own way with as consummate skill as his predecessor and with as complete success. His task was to catch and land the fish for the sake of which General Ignatieff had troubled the waters. He made concessions one by one, with the air, too, of making concessions, which leave Russia apparently considerably worse off than she found herself by the Treaty of San Stefano.

CONTINENTAL NEWS.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT "STELLA."]

PARIS, AUGUST 20.

The new Museum of Decorative Arts is now opened in the Pavilion de Flore, the portion of the Tuileries not too much destroyed for repairing. It is at present a private undertaking, being made up of loans from the collections of Sir Richard Wallace, the Barons de Rothschild, and other well-known patrons of art in all its branches. The objects, of great value and interest, thus lent for exhibition will remain where they are for three months, and will then be taken home and replaced by others, and so on, until the support of the public shall have been enlisted on behalf of the enterprise, which aims at calling into existence an establishment similar to the South Kensington Museum of London, to become the centre of an organised endeavour to provide and disseminate the means of artistic instruction and development among the productive classes. The influence of the South Kensington Museum on the various classes of artistic industry in England is so triumphantly evident in the splendid displays of her sections at the Champ de Mars and the Trocadero, that the French authorities in these matters are becoming uneasy for the laurels of the corresponding classes in this country.

The committee who have taken in hand the organizing of the great Exhibition Raffle, held their first meeting a few days ago, under the presidency of the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. A decision was come to that four chief prizes should be given, of the values of £2000, £1800, £1000, and £800 respectively, and that these should consist of diamonds or other objects of intrinsic marketable value, equal to that attributed to them, so that they may be easily converted into money, if won by persons not in a position to use them. The tickets are to be of one franc (10d.) each, and as there will be a vast number of articles provided, an immense national subscription is expected. The drawing is fixed for the 20th of October.

It has been found, not without surprise that may possibly have been shared by our own countrymen, that the best carpets in the great show are of British manufacture. Not only the Axminsters command the unqualified admiration of all who see them, but even the specimens of Oriental carpets exhibited by British houses are incomparably finer than any that are to be found in the sections of the countries from which they have come. Beautiful as are many of the exhibits of Oriental lands, the present gathering shows what great strides are being made by most of the countries in Europe, and notably by Great Britain, in overtaking the artistic skill and taste of the countries which formerly possessed a monopoly of certain styles in which Western Art is rapidly approaching their level, which the West will attain, and possibly overstep, all the more certainly and rapidly in proportion as its Eastern prototypes, instead of progressing on their own special lines, allow themselves to be debased by an unwise adoption of Western peculiarities utterly foreign to their special genius. It is to be hoped that the present Exhibition will have the effect of deciding Eastern Art to remain, while progressing in its own path, purely and essentially Oriental. It is now announced that the descendant and heir of the Queen of Sheba, King Menelek II., is coming to visit the Paris Exhibition.

Very great and just dissatisfaction exists among the exhibitors in the Great Show of this year, owing to the putting off by the Government of the distribution of the awards, announced for the 15th September, and now deferred until the 31st October, that is to say, at the close of the Exhibition. This decision is regarded as exceedingly unjust, inasmuch as it deprives the laureats of the advantage of the publicity which would have resulted from the publicatoin of the awards during the existence of the marvellous gathering which is bringing admirers from every part of the globe—a publicity equally prized by them for the honorary distinction thus conferred and for the increase of traffic that naturally follows the taking of an award. The whole body of exhibitors are up in arms against what they regard as a breach of faith and a crying injustice; those who have not obtained awards being as loud and earnest in their expressions of disapproval as those who have obtained these coveted distinctions. M. Krantz, the Commissioner-General, is very unpopular with the exhibitors, all of whom declare that he is unfit for the post conferred upon him, and which, they all seem to think, he owes simply and solely to his professions of Republicanism. The entire body of exhibitors now unites in demanding the immediate official publication of the awards, with the right for all the laureats to announce the award received by a card to that effect to be appended to the product to which the award has been granted. It is not yet known whether this most reasonable demand will be accorded; but the feeling among the entire body of exhibitors is so strongly in favour of the measure demanded that it would seem to be impossible for M. Krantz to refuse much longer.

Meantime, the central committee for the organizing of the national lottery is busy with the matter, and is holding meetings under the presidency of the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce for getting the affair into shape. A most curious movement is being made in favour of the plan, by the exhibitors themselves, great numbers of whom (of all countries) are hastening to present gratuitously objects from their stands to the committee, to be included among the prizes. A very large number of objects have thus been given for the proposed lottery, many of no great value, others of very considerable value. For instance, the last list of offerings thus sent in to the committee comprises the following:—A picture-frame, a table, 100 loaves of sugar (worth £60); 15 chests of sugar, broken up, ready for the table, each containing 50 lbs. of sugar; a centre table, a coffee-pot from Froment-Meurice, a butter-dish from Odiot, £120 in money and twenty boxes of pen-holders, £40 worth of books from the firm of Firmin-Didot, £40 of engravings from Goupel, the offer from M. Francia to make and present a bust of the gainer in terra cotta; this curious medley of diverse objects, all of considerable value, may serve as a fair sample of the offerings presented every day by exhibitors to swell the number of the prizes in the projected lottery, which, as the tickets are to be of one franc only, will doubtless be patronised by "everybody."

Rumours are again rife of an intention on the part of Marshal MacMahon to resign after the closing of the Exhibition. He detests violent revolutions, and he dislikes and disapproves of the Republican form of government; he dislikes the Cabinet forced upon him by the leaders of the Chamber; he expects to see the counterbalancing power of the Senate swept away by the Lower Chamber, and he is unwilling to allow his name to appear as that of the chief of a Government which he regards as drifting towards Communism, violence, anarchy, and civil war. Whether he really thinks of resigning it is impossible to say; but as he allows the intention to do so to be attributed to him, in various journals, without any contradiction on his part, it is generally thought that there must be some foundation for the rumour. Should he resign, it is surmised that the post of third President of the third French Republic would fall either to M. Dufaure, the present Minister of Justice, or to M. Gambetta, the latter being, it is said, about to marry a lady possessing a dot of £720,000; a marriage which would ensure to the penniless and almost briefless avocat of eight years ago the luxurious and splendid existence which is believed to be an object of intense and long-cherished desire on his part.

Slight shocks of earthquake have been felt during the last week throughout Belgium, and in many of the adjoining parts of France; an unpleasant reminder of the fact that enormous forces are at work under our feet that might put a speedy end to the embarrassments of the Eastern and all other "questions" by blowing all the contending parties into fragments.

A most extraordinary accident is reported from the town of Pont-en-Royans, without the aid of an earthquake to account for its occurrence. A bridegroom, on the conclusion of the marriage ceremony, was taking his bride and the members of the two families to his house, on the outskirts of the town, when his carriage came into such violent collision with the long ends of a load of fir tree trunks laden on a cart, which was coming from the opposite direction, that one of the tree-ends, after penetrating the body of the coachman, went through that of the bride's father. The piece of wood had to be sawn in two before it could be extricated from the bodies of the victims, who died shortly after the operation in horrible suffering. If the pole had been said to have impaled the mother-in-law, the story would be [illegible] here, where mothers-in-law are at a heavy discount, as an ingenious fiction, suggestive of a stroke of luck quite too good to be true; but the second victim of the homicidal fir-trunk being the father-in-law, against whom, as such, no special grudge exists in the country, the narrative is probably to be taken for true.

The French Association for the Advancement of Science gave a charming entertainment three evenings ago, at the Conservatory of Arts and Trades, whose splendid new quarters, just out of the Boulevard de Sebastopol, were alluded to in a former letter. About half-past 8 the vast halls of the institution, brilliantly lighted by a range of gaslights fixed to the roof, were filled with upwards of three thousand invited guests. In the amphitheatre a compact audience listened to an eloquent popular lecture by M. Cornu, on recent scientific discoveries. All the machines in the different rooms were in motion, and the hosts of the evening lost no time and spared no pains in explaining their nature and uses to their guests. In the garden, splendidly illuminated by the electric light, the band of the 82nd Regiment played some charming marches and airs. A most cordial and agreeable evening was thus passed by all present, some well-served supper-rooms detracting nothing from the pleasantness of the gathering.

The sense of propriety, even among Republicans, has been not a little shocked at finding that Madame Thiers, in the invitations she is sending out, far and wide, to the funeral-service she is getting up at the Cathedral of Notre Dame, in commemoration of her late husband's decease, speaks of the coming mass as a "solemn service to be celebrated on the 3rd of September, at noon, in honour of M. Thiers, at the Cathedral of Notre Dame." The non-Catholics dislike the holding of such a service; while the Catholics are scandalized at the terms employed, and remark that the services of the Catholic Church are never celebrated "in honour" of a deceased person, but for "the repose of his soul." The whole affair, therefore, is disapproved by many, from different points of view; and it is considered to be in bad taste to summon people (the invitations are in the form of a circular addressed to all the Mayors of France), to assemble round the cenotaph of the deceased statesman, in order to affirm their faith, not in God or Immortality, but in M. Thiers and the Republic.

Lieutenant Zuboritz, who, it will be remembered, came from Vienna to this city, riding the same horse all the way, in six days, and who is bent on swimming across the Channel on the same animal, with the aid of the horse-floater for enabling cavalry on the march to cross rivers (which he has invented, and of which he wishes thus to demonstrate the importance), is not discouraged by his late failure, but intends to renew the attempt until he has succeeded. Most people, however, will probably think that the twelve miles of floating already accomplished by him on the unquiet channel which separates Dover and Calais affords a more than sufficient demonstration of the excellence of his invention, which, having enabled him to float his horse for twelve miles on the sea, must be admitted to be fully capable of floating a horse across the incomparably shorter and smoother water of a river for which object the gallant Austrian's floater is intended. Captain Boyton, too, is continuing his floats on the principal French rivers, to give wide publicity to his very useful system, intended to enable shipwrecked people to sustain themselves, if needful, for many days, in mid-ocean, while awaiting the passage of vessels by which they may be rescued.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has just been thrown into a state of lively excitement by the recent announcement of bull-fights to be got up in this city. The society is very properly applying to the Minister of the Interior to induce him to refuse the authorisation, without which those disgusting exhibitions cannot be introduced in France.

RAILWAY FROM WAGGA WAGGA TO HAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The resolution, placed on the notice-paper of the Legislative Assembly by Mr. Barbour, the member for the Murray, expressing an opinion favourable to the extension of railway communication to Hay, by the south bank of the Murrumbidgee, comes on for discussion on Tuesday next, and is likely to decide finally the very important question of the direction of the line which is destined to compete with Victoria for the productions of our distant Riverine territory, and ultimately unite us with the capital of South Australia. In anticipation of that debate, I wish, through the medium of your paper, to lay before those on whom the decision on the question rests, a few facts, which, I think, may assist them in arriving at a sound conclusion.

The extension of our railways westwards into Riverina has been more or less a subject of debate for a number of years, but only two definite propositions have ever been submitted to Parliament. The first proposal was to make Cootamundra the southern limit of the railway, and to carry it from thence west to Darlington, on the Murrumbidgee, where it was to terminate finally. This proposal was withdrawn on account of the determined opposition offered to it by the Assembly. The next proposal of a recent date, was for a railroad from Junee to Narrandera, with a view to a system of water carriage from thence to Nap Nap, and a railway from thence to Pooncarrie. This scheme was debated in the Assembly on the 22nd June, 1876, and the amount £384,000, to carry it into effect, was voted on a division of 25 to 17. No attempt, however, has been made to carry out the work, and it is not likely now, on the reconsideration of the whole matter, that any one will be found to advocate such a scheme. But the line from Junee to Narrandera, as a step in the direction of an extension to Hay, is likely to have many advocates, and it is to throw some light upon that point that I write this letter. The rival lines may be stated as three in number:—

1. From Junee to Hay, via Narrandera, distance 172 miles. About ten miles might be saved by crossing the Murrumbidgee at Narrandera, but as that would necessitate two bridges over the river at a cost of probably what would construct fifty miles of railway in that level country, without appreciably extending the utility of the line, I omit the scheme from my calculations.

2. From North Wagga Wagga to Hay, via Narrandera, distance 162 miles. The same remarks as to crossing the river at Narrandera apply to this line as to the first. A comparison of these two lines shows that the distance from Sydney to Hay via Junee would be 459, and by North Wagga 466 miles, and that the extent of new railway required would be 172 miles by the first plan, and 162 miles by the second. That is, that in the total distance there would be a saving of seven miles by the Junee route, but a loss of ten miles in railway construction.

3. The plan proposed from the South Wagga station in the most direct line to Hay, would pass either north or south of the Gulllore Range as found convenient, cross the Yanko about thirty miles back from the Murrumbidgee, pass within an easy distance of Broogong and Urana, and run through the Old Man Plain at a distance of twenty or twenty-five miles back from the river.

The length of this line would be 143 miles of new road, and even that might be lessened by using the Albury line for the first few miles out of Wagga Wagga, and the total distance to Sydney would be 451 miles, making the distance to be travelled from Hay to the metropolis eight miles less than by the Junee route, and fifteen miles less than by North Wagga Wagga. The saving effected, too, in construction of railway would be twenty-eight miles on that by Junee and nineteen miles on that by North Wagga Wagga. These distances are all carefully taken from measurements on the Government Road and Railway Map, and are, I believe correct.

Having thus shown the saving in distance and in the construction of new roads, which would be effected by adopting the direct line from South Wagga Wagga to Hay, I think I may spare myself the trouble of pointing out the superior advantages of that line in the way of extending intercourse with the metropolis, for it cannot be denied that such a route will secure for Sydney the produce of a rich and vast pastoral territory, which would never be attracted in that direction by a line down either bank of the river. There are other and important grounds which might be urged in support of the line from South Wagga Wagga, but as I have proved that it is the shortest, most economical, and most useful, I fancy I have said enough.

Yours, &c., WILLIAM MACLEAY.

Elizabeth Bay, 24th Oct., 1878.

At the Stockholm Prison Congress, some official returns from the Australasian colonies having reference to corporal punishment, &c., were read, and, according to The Times correspondent, excited considerable indignation from the Continental delegates, as, in their view, evincing a want of humanity. Sir George Arney, formerly Chief Justice of New Zealand, defended the colonies, and said that in New Zealand he had only known flogging inflicted once for offences committed inside the prison during a period of sixteen years. On grounds emphatically of mercy and humanity, he believed it would be far better to inflict more flogging, with shorter imprisonments, on certain classes of criminals, especially those guilty of cruelty and violence outside prison walls, than to sentence them, as at present, to long imprisonments. These long periods of incarceration he considered to be far less humane and much more objectionable, on various grounds, than short and sharp punishments, consisting chiefly of a moderate use of the lash. A lengthy discussion ensued, but the Continental delegates generally expressed their concurrence with the views of M. Berden, Director-General of Belgium prisons, who said that throughout Belgium corporal punishment was never inflicted in the prisons, the partial deprivation of food and confinement in a dark cell being found efficacious in reducing the most troublesome prisoners to order.

WE owe it to truth to state that all the physicians who have prescribed to their patients GRIMAULT AND CO.'S INDIAN CIGARETTES are unanimous in telling that their effect in asthma, chronic catarrhs, and inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, palate, and bronchia is most surprising.—VIENNA MEDICAL GAZETTE (Austria).—ADV.

BRITISH COMMERCE.

The Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs, (London), in their report for the year 1876, refer to the circumstances which, in their opinion, influenced injuriously the commerce of that period, although the net revenue of the department shows an increase as compared with the income of the previous year. The Customs department alone may not afford a reliable ground of evidence as to the general prosperity or otherwise of the people, yet on the whole, and, as an approximation to the condition of the great wage-earning class, the Customs department affords a very fair index, especially when the comparison of year and year covers a sufficient length of time to allow for speculation and many other causes likely to influence deductions based on a shorter experience.

The circumstances of the year 1876 appear to have been more flourishing than the alleged "strongly marked want of commercial enterprise and absence of confidence" would justify, for we find that a marked decrease of pauperism is noticed, there having been 56,000 fewer paupers in 1876 than in 1855, and the emigration and immigration presenting, for the first time in the experience of a century, very nearly an evenly adjusted balance.

The most remarkable feature of the trade of the United Kingdom during the year 1876 is the unprecedented excess in the total value of the imports over the exports, amounting to £125,968,263, being 44 per cent. In the year 1876 the greatest aggregate value of goods ever imported into the United Kingdom in a single year was reached, viz., £412,208,947, whilst on the other hand the value of the exports during the same time was considerably less than the yearly value exported in any one of the five preceding years.

The Commissioners succeed in showing, in spite of the commercial depression they refer to, and the absence of confidence in trade, that the largest value of imports had been reached and that the exports were dwindling. Pauperism was reduced, the importation and exportation of people balanced, and the great fact demonstrated the fact that the old, old story about the balance of trade is an exploded myth, and that England is the best customer England has. It is demonstrated that facts are sounder than deductions from figures, especially when such figures present a part, and not the whole, of the question for consideration.

The comparative statement of the value of the imports and exports (including bullion and specie) into and from the United Kingdom from 1858 to 1876 is highly instructive, and it is to be regretted that space will not allow the whole of the return to be quoted. The total value of the imports for the year 1858 was £194,077,022, and for 1876 £412,208,947. The exports for 1858 were valued at £159,411,655, and for 1876 £286,240,684. Great Britain therefore exceeded in the value of her imports by comparison with her exports in 1858, £34,665,367; 1876, £125,968,263.

The valuable information contained in the comparative statement published by the Commissioners shows that the aggregate value of the imports of each year has, with the exception of four years out of nineteen, constantly increased, and that the last of the years is (as shown above) more than double the value of the first. Following the table of exports we find that in no less than eight years of the series there has been a decline of value from that of the previous year; and again, comparing the value of the last year (1876) with that of the first (1858), it is far from arriving at the double of the value. The imports of 1876 have doubled those of 1858 with twenty-four millions to spare, while the exports have fallen short of the double of those of 1858 by thirty-two millions and a half.

Without attempting to follow the Commissioners in their explanations in reference to the fluctuations of trade and the old or new fashioned theories of political economy, we prefer to pass to a notice of the facts presented in the report, leaving others to build fanciful or flimsy structures which the experience of another decade of commercialism will possibly hold up to contempt and derision.

One point raised by the Commissioners on this subject is however, worthy of notice beyond mere passing comment. They urge as one explanation of the difference between imports and exports, that owners of accumulated capital resident in the United Kingdom are also often owners of similar capital elsewhere, and that while they remain domiciled at home they conduct operations of trade in and between foreign and colonial countries, requiring that the profits of such operations shall be remitted to them in the country in which they reside. Against such profits—as imports there are (say the Commissioners) no corresponding exports—that is to say, that the actual produce may be sold elsewhere, and that the proceeds (bullion or specie) may swell the imports without a corresponding export.

Within the limits of such a notice as this, it will not be possible to follow the Commissioners in their notice of the various articles of import and export; we will therefore notice only those of general or colonial interest.

Taking cotton as a prelude to our notice of the figures illustrating the wool trade, we find that Great Britain imported 12,578,906 cwt. in 1872, and 18,284,454 cwt. in 1876. In the latter year the imports stood as follows:—From the United States, 8,328,573 cwt.; British India, 2,448,738 cwt.; Egypt, 1,778,976 cwt.; Brazil, 476,512 cwt.; France, 91,668 cwt.; Peru, 61,700 cwt.; Australia, 8,077 cwt.; other places, 90,210 cwt. Australia showing decreasing imports during a lustre, as follows:—1872, 29,083 cwt.; 1873, 30,877 cwt.; 1874, 25,284 cwt.; 1875, 17,224 cwt.; 1876, 8,077 cwt.

The diminished cost of the raw material has added to the profits of the manufacturer and reduced the cost to the consumer. The export of cotton piece goods was—in 1867, 2,832,023,707 yards; in 1876, 3,669,404,374 yards. The difference in value is best seen thus:—Cotton imported 1867, valued £52,003,000; cotton exported 1867, valued £53,128,163; cotton imported 1876, value £40,181,000; cotton exported 1876, valued £50,378,173. Therefore, in 1867 cotton was bought dear and sold dear with a small profit; in 1876 it was bought cheap and sold cheap at a large profit.

The importation of wool into England is dismissed by the Commissioners of Customs in about twenty lines of notice, but to an Australian these lines furnish material for extended comment.

The imports of wool into the United Kingdom for 1876 were as follows:—From Australia, 263,869,000 lbs.; South Africa, 42,158,000 lbs.; Europe, 36,110,000 lbs.; India, 24,453,000 lbs.; South America, 8,088,000 lbs.; other countries, 11,890,000 lbs.: total, 386,568,000 lbs. This represents an increase of 6·8 per cent. over the figures of 1875, and the whole of that excess was contributed by Australia, the receipts from that colony (so the Commissioners) having been for 1875, 238,631,000 lbs.; 1876, 263,869,000 lbs.

By the following we may learn, so far as figures can teach us, who is our best customer for wool. We take a five years' statement, leaving our readers to supply causes for the fluctuations shown as best they may:—

Value of sheep and lambs' wool exported from Great Britain:—To France, in 1872, was £3,031,323; 1873, £4,152,259; 1874, £4,622,200; 1875, £5,730,596; 1876, £5,807,224. United States, in 1872, £1,666,104; 1873, £222,845; 1874, £476,161; 1875, £614,232; 1876, £402,361.

It is both instructive and remarkable to notice the extent to which Great Britain depends upon other countries for food supplies. In 1876, taking oxen, cows, sheep, and swine, 1,356,468 animals were imported, and under the heading of "dead meat"—being other than bacon and preserved meats (tinned)—the quantity imported was, 58,379 tons; bacon, 141,450 tons; butter, 82,950 tons; cheese, 75,000 tons; cured fish, 48,300 tons; and eggs 753 millions; potatoes reach, 301,150 tons; and wheat, 10,258,100 quarters.

With a brief notice of the articles tobacco, tea, and spirits, we will conclude this paper, which has far outgrown reasonable proportions, but will leave much interesting matter worthy of consideration.

When Mr. Samuel Pepys made that entry in his diary on the 25th September, 1661, "I sent for a cup of tea (a China drink) of which I had not drunk before," he could scarcely have foreseen the extent to which this narcotic would be used in England. The consumption in the year 1833, just previous to the imposition of a fixed duty, in place of duty ad valorem, was 32 million pounds, after that time the fixed duties varied from 1s. 6d. to 3s. per lb. The consumption of tea in Great Britain reached its highest figures in 1876, viz., 149,831,449 lbs., or 66,576 tons, at a duty of 6d. per pound.

Judging by the Commissioners' report, the use of tobacco is not increasing to a very considerable extent, and we are officially told that the male population over thirteen years of age in Great Britain gives a consumption of over 4·7 lbs. per head per annum. The following figures will best show the amount expended on tea, tobacco, and spirits, in the proportions contributed by those articles to the aggregate revenue of the Imperial Customs for 1876:—Tobacco and snuff, £7,838,043; spirits, £5,960,537; tea, £3,728,311; all other articles, £2,629,412; total, £20,156,303.

These taxes on the great source of vice are in England as with ourselves in the colonies a prolific source of national income; but, however much this must be deplored, such taxes are a source of revenue no Treasurer of the public finances can afford to despise. It is perhaps over soon to congratulate the people of Great Britain on the fact that in 1876 there was a decrease in the duty paid to the Customs on rum to the extent of £171,022. The increase on brandy, geneva, and other spirits amounted to £23,088. At first sight it would appear that the poorest drinkers consume less rum than heretofore, and that the wealthier drinkers consume more of the higher priced beverages; but not having at hand the statement of the Inland Revenue Branch, we do not know to what extent British sweetened spirit, or vulgar common gin, has been in increased demand to supplant rum. The Commissioners may perhaps be able to explain the seeming congratulatory item of a decreased consumption of spirits by the lowest class.

The report gives but cold comfort to the advocates of temperance, informing us that the quantity of rum imported in 1876 was far greater than any yet recorded in the history of imports, no less than 10,395,000 gallons having been introduced during that year, being an increase of 1,579,000 gallons upon the quantity received in 1875, and 2,245,000 upon that received in 1874, and just double the quantity imported eight years ago. The stock at the end of the year 1876 was 10,200,000 gallons.

Yet taking all kinds of foreign spirits together, there was a decrease of ten per cent. in the consumption on a comparison for the two years 1875-1876, the number of gallons on which duty was paid being as follows: 1875, 11,808,000 gallons; 1876, 11,501,000 gallons, a difference of 307,000 gallons in favour of the year 1875.

The consumption of rum fell from 5,386,000 gallons in 1875, to 5,037,000 gallons in 1876, a decrease of 349,000 gallons, or six per cent. The report for the year 1877 and the returns of the Inland Revenue Branch may dispel the illusion that spirit drinking is on the wane in the United Kingdom, but the report of the Commissioners for 1876, tells us that tobacco shows a slightly diminished rate of progress in consumption; that rum is less in demand, and that the consumption of tea for the same year increased by 3,673,700 lbs., or nearly 1645 tons. This latter increase is not, however, in the proportion of increase that has occurred for many years. The usual rate of increase has been from 4 to 5 per cent., but 1876 gives only an increase of 2·5 per cent. upon the deliveries of 1875.

The report of the Commissioners deals with many other items of considerable interest, such as internal departmental management, quarantine statistics, seizures, smuggling, and officers' superannuation, and is an interesting narrative of the working business of a great revenue collecting branch of the public service in Great Britain.

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY.

The following are the Memoranda referring to the "ad eundem" degrees submitted at the request of the Hon. Joseph Leary, by a recent deputation on the subject.

"Graduates of British Universities at present residing in New South Wales complain of the ill-defined and uncertain relations at present subsisting between the University of Sydney and the great Universities of Europe. They invite attention to the subject partly on personal, but chiefly on public grounds. Their personal motives arise from their desire to be placed in the same relation with the University of their adopted as with that of their native country. Some graduates have even selected New South Wales as their future permanent home from the circumstance of its possessing in Sydney a University with which they felt they could hold communion, and cultivate those honourable, elevating, and profitable relations which really attend connection with a well-conducted, progressive, corporate seat of learning; and they feel injured by being deprived of advantages they have a natural and customary right to.

"The public grounds urged in behalf of a reconsideration of the Sydney University laws, or probably want of laws affecting recognition of the degrees of Universities of a certain standing, viz.: That relations of this character between Universities are usually reciprocal, and hence it is not to be expected that the distinguished Universities of Great Britain will take any notice of degrees and certificates presented by former students of Sydney University, if their own degrees continue to be ignored here. The objection assumes increased force when it is borne in mind that many of the gentlemen who have come from the other end of the world to this colony in reliance on the good faith and honour usually observed between Universities—have abandoned positions and associations which were congenial and indeed had become almost necessary to them through long enjoyment.

"These gentlemen feel themselves at a serious disadvantage in being unexpectedly deprived of a fellowship they feel they are entitled to. One of the consequences practically resulting from this state of things is that young Australians who have undergone a course of study in the Sydney University, preparatory to entering a profession in England, find in the old country a great reluctance to acknowledge their status academicus; and, in many instances, have to submit to examinations they had not anticipated, losing, of course, in the necessary preparations much time they and their parents had calculated devoting to purely professional study.

"The deputation which recently waited on the Hon. Joseph Leary, Minister for Justice and Public Education, with reference to ad eundem degrees to be issued by the University of Sydney were not authorised to bring to official notice any individual cases of hardship in this respect, but they offer the assurance of their own knowledge that such have occurred, and that the dissatisfaction of the officials of one of the great Universities at home, which has hitherto enrolled the largest number of Sydney men, has been expressed in such terms that we must expect the evil to assume a phase which, if uncorrected, will most seriously jeopardise the reputation and usefulness of the Sydney University, besides inflicting most serious and unanticipated loss and inconvenience on students from this colony. Attention is invited to the fact, that the degrees in Arts of the University of Sydney, have not for some time been completely recognised ad eundem gradum in the University of Edinburgh, nor in the Universities of the United Kingdom generally. It is also called to the fact that there appears to be no rule in England to guide Sydney students with certainty as to the precise value of a degree in arts or of matriculation certificates from Sydney; instances having occurred where no compensatory examination was required, and some, particularly lately, where examinations in additional subjects have been exacted.

"Professor Balfour, the late, and Professor Turner, the present, Dean of the Medical Faculty of the University of Edinburgh, have recently expressed themselves in strong terms with reference to the University of Sydney. Though the great Universities of the United Kingdom and Ireland would doubtless, resent the supposition that the bearing of their officials towards students from New South Wales, arose from the absence of reciprocal relations with the University of Sydney; the impression that they are not insensible to a feeling of sympathy with their own badly treated graduates settled in New South Wales, is very general among those interested in the question. However this may be, it is certainly desirable, from public and private considerations, that more definite, courteous, and equitable relations should be established between the University of Sydney and the principal Universities in England, and that these should be clearly defined and be free from all ambiguity. Though the members of the deputation were deterred by want of authority or consent of parties from citing individual cases in which Sydney students have been sufferers, the facts within their own cognizance impose upon them the duty of drawing attention to this serious aspect of the question. The conclusions the deputation have arrived at are:—

"1. That the University of Sydney should so determine the subjects of its examinations as to place them in harmony with the requirements of the principal Universities of England.

"2. That students who leave Sydney for Europe with a view to training in some branch of technical learning, should be correctly informed as to the value of their Sydney certificates in Arts.

"3. That Sydney University calendars should be regularly sent to the Registrars of Universities in accepted official relation with it.

"4. That the references made in previous University calendars to 'recognised Universities' are unsatisfactory, being indefinite, and that references of the kind should in future mention by name the Universities in reciprocal relation with Sydney.

"5. That graduates of all British and foreign universities whose degrees the Senate of the University of Sydney may elect to recognise should be invited without further examination, but on payment of a suitable fee, to take degrees in Sydney ad eundem gradum of the Universities in which they were educated.

"6. That no British or foreign University should be recognised by the Sydney University, except on terms of reciprosity as regards honour and legal privileges, even though the curricula of study should meet the requirements of the Sydney University senate.

"7. That the rules admitting the students ad eundem statum, and graduates ad eundem gradum, should be free from ambiguity and confirmed by official sanction of the authorities of the Universities concerned.

"8. That it be determined beyond doubt whether the Senate have the power of altering, with the consent of Government, the by-laws of the University referring to ad eundem degrees, and if not possessed, that such power should be secured by an additional Act of Parliament."

The INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

A meeting of the International Exhibition Committee was held yesterday afternoon, in the rooms of the Agricultural Society, George-street, for considering plans and a site for the projected International Exhibition. His Excellency Governor Robinson occupied the chair, and there were present Messrs. W. Wallis, F. C. Griffiths, W. A. Brodribb, J. Thompson, W. Busby, W. Bradley, J. H. Heaton, G. H. Reid, J. Algor, J. Young, P. A. Jennings, S. Cook, J. J. Calvert, E. L. Montefiore, J. Gordon, P. N. Trebeck, S. A. Joseph, Captain Mann, Captain Broomfield, Dr. Garran, Dr. Jenkins, and Sir John Hay.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A letter was read from the Institute of Architects, urging that competitive plans for the Exhibition should be called for. A letter was read from the Consular-Agent for Italy, applying for information concerning the transit of exhibits, and the space and date in connection with the Exhibition. It was referred to the Correspondence Committee. A letter was read from Mr. M. Luna offering his services as foreign correspondent in connection with the Exhibition. A letter was read from the Town Clerk of Sydney, stating that the building in Prince Alfred Park would be available for any additional period held to be required beyond the society's lease. A communication was read from the Scandinavian societies of New South Wales offering to further the objects of the Exhibition. It was referred to the Interior Arrangements Committee.

It was stated that last week the Hon. James Munro, M.P., one of the vice-presidents of the International Exhibition of Victoria, had been introduced to the committee, and had expressed the wish of the Melbourne Commission to assist, in every way in their power, the Sydney Exhibition. Mr. J. B. Were, Consul for Denmark, another of the vice-presidents, unable to be present with Mr. Munro, had since had an interview with the acting-secretary, and, whilst reiterating all his colleague said, placed the rules, regulations, and suggestions in force for the Melbourne Exhibition at the disposal of the International Exhibition Committee in New South Wales, in order that any of them, if found suitable, might be made use of.

The documents referred to were set apart for consideration.

Sir JOHN HAY brought up the following report of the Building Committee:—

"The Building Committee have considered the questions of site and of the character of structure most suitable for the proposed International Exhibition. As to site, they have been guided by the consideration of giving a distinctive character to this particular undertaking, and recommend the Inner Domain, or rather that portion of it which lies to the south of the Government stables, as the best possible position—subject, of course, to the consent being obtained of his Excellency the Governor and of the Secretary of Lands as representing the Government of the colony. With respect to the building, it is evident that the short time within which it must be completed limits very much the choice. After considering proposals of considerable merit furnished by other gentlemen, the committee has fallen back upon that of one of their number—Mr. John Young. That gentleman's proposal is to construct of a framework of iron a building having a floor space nearly double that of the Exhibition Building in Prince Alfred Park, with a central and lofty hall, giving a sufficiently striking character to the whole, at a cost of £13,500, and communicating with, by a covered way, another building, which will give any required space by a repetition of its parts at a proportionate cost, considerably less, but having no special ornamentations.

"Mr. Young, whose experience and ability are well-known, is prepared, as a member of the Building Committee, to overlook the execution of the whole work; and the committee is of opinion that under all the circumstances no better arrangement can be made. If the General Committee approve of this, the Building Committee will proceed at once to employ draughtsmen; and on specifications being prepared, to take contracts for the various works in connection with these buildings; and employ a reliable clerk of works to act under Mr. Young in seeing to their proper execution."

He said several matters guided the committee to those conclusions, and principally the short time intervening before the Exhibition would take place and the monetary means available for exhibition purposes. They thought it would be impossible to carry out the project if they did not depart from the usual course of employing a special architect. The Exhibition of 1851 was not designed by an architect, neither were architects employed at it in the ordinary way, and they were in hopes that in so far as the building was to be architectural they might rely upon some eminent professional man in the colony to assist in giving the building the requisite architectural finish. They believed there was sufficient patriotism amongst professional men in the colony for that purpose. He had ascertained that there would be no objection on the part of his Excellency the Governor to the Exhibition being placed in the Inner Domain, if his Excellency was satisfied as to the boundaries required, that the occupancy was not of a permanent character, and that the property was returned in no worse condition than it was in when taken possession of. [The CHAIRMAN: Does the £13,500 cover both buildings?] That amount only covered the cost of the main building. On a plateau lower than that on which the principal building might be placed, a second building could be erected similar in character to the main structure, and greater or less as occasion might necessitate. The proposal was that both buildings should be constructed of twenty-one feet squares or bays, and when they knew the expense of one of these they knew the expense of the whole. The central hall of the main building would consist of the width and height of two bays throughout its length, and would add considerably to the cost of the building, while the other building, having no such hall, would be of proportionately less cost. The length of the building, it was proposed, should be 275 feet and its width 168 feet. If thought desirable, galleries, at a height of twelve feet, could be placed in the main hall, but that could not be the case in regard to the other building, which was to have no hall. At one end of the main structure would be two towers of an utilitarian as well as an ornamental character, as it was intended that they should be used for exhibiting hoists and other attractions of that kind in. These would give a great relief to the character of the building. There would be no light in the main building except from the south and east, and on those sides the materials used would be glass and iron above a certain height of brickwork. The north and west sides would be closed in with 9-inch brickwork, so as to exclude the glare of the sun. The roof would be lighted entirely from the south, and ample light of the best character throughout the building would be obtained for the exhibition of goods. Mr. Young calculated that according to his designs at least three times the floor space of the building in Prince Alfred Park would be obtainable in the two buildings for £18,000. The building committee thought that that amount of space would be required, but it could be increased by adding more bays, and as every bay would be a repetition of the other, it would be seen that there were great facilities for obtaining the whole of the materials requisite for a complete structure in the shortest possible space of time. Mr. Young thought the material used in carrying out his scheme would have a special value when the structures were pulled down. [The CHAIRMAN: How much of the £18,000 would be recovered then? Mr. YOUNG: About half, your Excellency.] It was pretty evident that if the iron was of a useful character it would not depreciate in value to any serious extent by removal.

The CHAIRMAN said he was afraid the proposed hall would not be so satisfactory in its appearance as the hall in the present building.

Mr. YOUNG sai the width of the hall could be increased by the width of a bay. That would give the building a better appearance, but would increase its cost by about £1500.

Mr. GRIFFITHS asked whether the building in Prince Alfred Park could not be utilized for exhibition purposes.

Sir JOHN HAY said that they had found that the only addition that could well be made to double the space in the present building would be by means of two annexes, one on each side of that structure. One of these would extend further at one end than the building itself. The earthworks requisite for those annexes would be very considerable, and some parts of the annexes would have to be erected on piles, or else they would have to go to some other part of the ground. [The CHAIRMAN: What would be the cost of obtaining the same space there as that contemplated in Mr. Young's plans?] He was not prepared to say for certain, as the cost was not estimated, but their idea was that double the space the present building would afford could be provided for £6000, including the rent of the building.

Mr. JENNINGS thought they should be cautious before giving up good grounds and a building with a spacious hall. He would like to know if the site had been changed.

Sir JOHN HAY said nothing had been decided upon so far, and it was for the general committee to consider what should be done. The building committee were not bound by their proposals, and would be very well satisfied if the general committee would arrive at some determination in the matter, or would examine the present building and its grounds with the view of obtaining estimates of the cost of the necessary accommodation there. The building committee did examine the place, and arrived at the conclusion that it was not so satisfactory as the Domain. Additions at the Prince Alfred Park could only be secured by the two side annexes he had referred to, or by occupying with an additional structure the ground appointed for displaying implements, or between that and the horse rings.

Mr. REID understood contractors were prepared to erect a suitable building for £12,500, and allow £2500 if they were permitted to have the material after the Exhibition was over.

Sir JOHN HAY pointed out in reply, that there were frequently great delays in contracts, that there was no time to waste in the present instance, and that the question of the relative values of wood and iron after being used had to be considered.

Mr. JENNINGS said he thought the building the building committee appeared to approve of was not handsome, and might in the eyes of strangers reflect unfavourably on the good taste of the people of New South Wales. He thought for several reasons that they should stick to their present grounds and building. The building was in better taste, and the grounds provided very amply for the accommodation of stock. The principal matter to consider was the requisite space, and if that could be secured at Prince Alfred Park and the Exhibition could take place there all at once and they could save a large sum of money by going there, they ought to pause before deciding to use the Domain. At any rate they ought to have fuller information concerning those points than they possessed at present.

After some remarks from Dr. JENKINS in favour of the country people being considered in the matter,

Mr. W. BRADLEY said the building committee had examined the grounds of Prince Alfred Park very closely and said there was not sufficient room for properly carrying out their purposes in them. If the building on the grounds were added to, it would be very unsightly. The Inner Domain was larger than many people supposed, and in addition to the room required for Exhibition buildings would have ample space for the accommodation of stock. It would also have the attractions of the adjacent Botanic Gardens, one of the grandest sights in the colonies. If they wanted a handsome building they would have to pay more than £20,000 for it. The building proposed to be put up in the Domain would be one of the most inexpensive they could secure, as all the material might be secured close at hand, and could be sold afterwards for woolsheds or railway stations.

After some further conversation, in which the Chairman, and Dr. Garran, Mr. Calvert, Mr. Brodribb, and Mr. Josephs took part, the Chairman suggested that they should secure estimates for exhibitions on either of the sites in question.

Mr. JENNINGS to bring matters to a practical issue, moved that alternative estimates for three times the available space at Prince Alfred Park, or in that locality, should be obtained.

This proposition was agreed with, and it was arranged that the general committee should investigate the building and grounds at Prince Alfred Park on the following Tuesday.

It was resolved, on the motion of Captain BROOMFIELD, seconded by Dr. GARRAN, that canvassers should be appointed, and paid 5 per cent. on subscriptions they collected.

The name of Mr. J. R. Fairfax was added to the list of members of the Fine Arts Committee, and the meeting was then adjourned.

THE ELECTION OF THE MAYOR OF SYDNEY.

A special meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council was held yesterday, to consider the following resolutions of which notice had been given by Alderman Green:—"That the resolution of Council of date the 8th November, 1876, approving of a clause in the new Corporation Bill, providing for the election of the Mayor of Sydney by the citizens, be and the same is hereby rescinded." There were present the Mayor (Alderman Merriman) and Aldermen Kippax, Moore, Young, Carpenter, Playfair, Harris, Palmer, Maze, Taylor, Roberts, Chapman, Green, and O'Connor.

In moving the resolution, Alderman GREEN said if the citizens elected the Mayor the election would sink down to this, that it would be controlled by a few. Why, they found that the average number that voted for an auditor out of 17,000 entitled to do so was 600. Citizens could not know so well as aldermen who was best fitted to govern in the chair. He believed the great bulk of the citizens did not care who was elected mayor and he believed eight-tenths of them would not vote at all.

Alderman ROBERTS said nearly every body elected their own chairman, and he could not see why the City Council should be an exception. He certainly, however, disagreed with Alderman Green in comparing the election of a mayor with the election of an auditor. He believed if the Mayor were elected by the citizens that about 12,000 would record their votes in place of 600. He considered, however, that the aldermen were the representatives of the citizens for the time being; and that the citizens should consider, in electing an alderman, whether he was fit to sit as a mayor.

Alderman TAYLOR thought that the citizens electing the Mayor would be a great curse. If the aldermen were not the best judges of who should be their chairman the citizens certainly could not be. Everyone knew each other and his ability for office, and the aldermen therefore were the best judges of who was most competent to be mayor. To take the privilege of electing their own chairman from them was, he thought, an insult. Parliament might just as well pass a bill amending the Constitution Act, so that the Speaker of the Assembly should be elected by the country. As for cornering, as had been mentioned, he had never been cornered. He would like to ask them this question—What position would a man be in who was elected by the ratepayers, and who had not the confidence of the Council? It would be no bed of roses that year of office for him. He thought the best course was to petition for the clause to remain so that the aldermen should have the right to elect their own chairman.

Alderman MOORE had no doubt whatever that election by the citizens was best. The Mayor should, in his opinion, not only be liberal but have liberal purse strings. He pointed out that in 1868 twelve voted for it and two against it, and in 1875 a similar resolution was carried, and that was the one they were now called upon to rescind. During the time he had been in the Council he had seen aldermen so injudicious as to propose themselves for mayor, and notwithstanding their anxiety they had never got a seconder, and he could tell these aldermen that if they remained here for eight or ten years they would never get to the chair. Why, then, not let these men go to the citizens? He had had as much experience in this Council as any one, and he distinctly said that a mayor to be independent must be elected by the citizens. It was far better this way than cornering and giving splendid balls and suppers, and all that only to be elected.

Several aldermen: That is not true.

Alderman MOORE distinctly said that promises were made to obtain the chair that ought not to be made. He did trust that they would not trouble the Government in this matter. They were giving them a good bill, and striving to do the best they could for them, and what more did they want. The division that was taken in this Council in 1875 on the subject was, he found, six for, and two against.

Alderman YOUNG said he could not at all see that any expression of opinion they could give would embarass the Government. In this matter the Government were under a wrong impression, for the Colonial Secretary in his speech had expressed himself as personally in favour of aldermen electing their own chairman, but stated that he deferred to the opinion of the aldermen as expressed in the resolution now proposed to be rescinded. They all knew what the expense of an election was where there were 18,000 electors, and they could imagine what it would cost the Mayor to get elected. He thought the Mayor should spend money during his term of office, and not on being elected, and he did not think he was bound to exceed what he received on hospitalities. He did not think the citizens could know so well as the aldermen who was best fitted to fill the position of mayor. As to cornering, he knew nothing about it. He had been at the election of two mayors, and he had seen no clique. It seemed to him that the elections had been done on the spur of the moment. It appeared to him that deciding that the citizens should elect mayors was like passing a vote of censure on themselves.

Alderman PLAYFAIR contended that a mayor should be an example to the whole people; and if the citizens elected them, different societies would bring out different men to oppose one another. He did not, however, agree with the present system, because a candidate for the chair very often put a different face on to what he would otherwise do if he were not a candidate. As the new bill proposed to give them twenty-four aldermen, in place of sixteen, that might be remedied. There was no doubt at all that there had been "cornering," and yet, he knew there were men here who would not be elected mayor if they remained in the Council for twenty years.

Alderman O'CONNOR said that the privilege enjoyed by the citizens was one of the oldest and grandest institutions in England, and had been the commencement of that freedom which they all gloried in now. He would refer them to such eminent authorities on the subject as Froude, Lord Macaulay, and Lardner. He contended that the position of mayor was second only to that of the Governor; and there were occasions when it might be superior. Say, for instance, that the Queen or any member of the Royal family visited Sydney, it would be the Mayor who would welcome them, and his Excellency would have no position except that of a private citizen. It was absurd to compare the Speaker of the Assembly with the Mayor. The powers of the former only were that he was chairman of a number of gentlemen, but they did not go outside the buildings in which he presided, and he sat only to keep order and decide any points that might be raised, but he had not one shilling of patronage and the appointment even of an office boy did not lie with him. The present mode of electing a mayor he considered was impure and tended to impurity, and to make a man biassed. By delegating the power to the citizens a man was made independent.

Alderman CHAPMAN said he could not allow certain remarks made by Alderman Moore to remain unchallenged. He spoke about a certain little lot getting in a mayor by their means. During sixteen years he had never known of anything of the kind with one exception, and that was when an alderman called a meeting in his own parlour to elect a mayor, and then it was said that very alderman sold his friends.

Alderman MOORE: I deny that statement. He has said the same thing for years.

Alderman CHAPMAN said he had heard other aldermen challenge Alderman Moore with selling them. Could he deny that?

Alderman MOORE: I can.

Alderman CHAPMAN proceeded to say that it was well known that canvassing would be done for anything, and no matter how an election ended, he had never seen the slightest ill-feeling between the Mayor elect and the aldermen who might have voted against him. He thought it very hard that they should not be allowed to elect their own chairman.

Alderman HARRIS said he had never seen any of this "cornering," except once when he was invited to a parlour in Pitt-street. He had voted for the citizens electing the Mayor once, but had seen reason to change his views since.

Alderman PALMER said that during eight years he had never seen any "cornering" except in the instance mentioned by Alderman Chapman, and he had never known of any ill-feeling after the election of mayor was over.

Alderman CARPENTER said the election of mayor if made by the citizens would come to be very expensive, and if they did not take action it would be thought they were in favour of it.

Alderman MAZE spoke against the resolution.

Alderman KIPPAX said he would vote for the resolution.

Alderman GREEN replied.

The motion was then carried on a division, Aldermen Moore, Maze, and O'Connor only voting against it.

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That a petition be forwarded from this Council to the Legislature, praying that provision be made in the new Corporation Bill, now under the consideration of the Legislative Assembly, for the election of the Mayor of Sydney by the votes of the aldermen."

The motion was agreed to.

Alderman O'CONNOR rose to make a personal explanation, but the others left the table; and Alderman O'CONNOR called out, "You are a mean, cowardly lot of men; you are afraid of hearing what I have to say."

The proceedings then terminated.

FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.

CLARKE'S
WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE,
Trade Mark—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER,
for cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.
For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases, and sores of all kinds, it is a never-failing and permanent cure.
It Cures old Sores, Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck, Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs, Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face, Cures Scurvy Sores, Cures Cancerous Ulcers, Cures Blood and Skin Diseases, Cures Glandular Swellings, clears the Blood from all impure matter.
As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.
THE BLOOD being the source from which our systems are built-up, and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, it is important that it should be kept pure.

CURE OF RHEUMATIC GOUT.
July 12, 1876.
Mr. John Walton, of Dogdike, near Boston, writes: "I am 64 years of age, and have just been cured by Clarke's world-famed Blood Mixture of a dreadful attack of rheumatic gout, which had confined me to my bed for eighteen weeks."

CURE OF A BAD LEG.
"5, Chester Bridge, Crewe, June 12, 1876.
"Sir,—I have received the following from one of my numerous customers for your justly celebrated 'Blood Mixture.' You are at liberty to publish it.—Yours truly,
"E. Booth, Chemist.
"To Mr. F. J. Clarke."

"3, Liverpool-terrace, Crewe, June 10, 1876.
"Mr. Booth.—Dear Sir,—I have for a long time suffered with a bad leg—the inflammation extending from the knee to the toes—which was rapidly breaking up my constitution. As a last resort I obtained from you a small bottle of 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and experienced so much relief from it that I persevered, and seven (7) small bottles cured me. I have recommended it to several of my friends, who are now improving rapidly under its use.—Yours truly,
"Henry Davies, Engine-fitter, Crewe Works."

CURE OF DROPSY.
"Gomersal, Leeds, September 4.
"Dear Sir,—This is to certify that two 11s bottles of Clarke's Blood Mixture cured my wife when three eminent doctors were powerless.
"Her complaint was dropsy, and she had been ill nearly ten years.—Yours truly,
"John Cox."

WONDERFUL CURE OF ULCERATED SORE LEGS OF 18 YEARS' STANDING.
Messrs. C. Mumby and Company, Pharmaceutical Chemists, Gosport, write as follows:—
"Sir,—We have received the enclosed testimonial, and have much pleasure in forwarding it to you. As he obtained the medicine from us, we can vouch for the truth of his statement."
"27th February, 1875.
"I, Charles Luker, keeper of the Royal Engineers' Office, at Gosport, having had ulcerated sore legs for the last 18 years, which broke out while stationed at the Cape of Good Hope, since my return to England I have tried everything in the way of patent medicines I could hear of, and have had the best advice, both in Government and private hospitals, but obtained no permanent relief; on hearing three months ago of your medicines, I was induced to try them, and, wonderful to relate, after having taken one large bottle of Blood Mixture, and applied two 4s 6d pots of your Miraculous Salve, my legs are perfectly healed.
"Chas. Luker, late Sergeant R. Engineers.
"Witness—W. J. Sparrow.
"To Mr. F. J. Clarke, Lincoln."

SKIN DISEASES, eruptions, blotches, spots, pimples, pustules, boils, carbuncles, ringworms, scald heads, sore eyes, erysipelas, itch, scurfs, discolorations of the skin, humours and diseases of the skin of whatever name or nature, are literally carried out of the system in a short time by the use of this world-famed medicine.
IMPORTANT ADVICE TO ALL.—Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is sold in bottles, 2s 6d each, and in cases containing six times the quantity, 11s each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout the world, or sent to any address on receipt of 30 or 132 stamps, by the proprietor,

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS for CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which in OUTWARD APPEARANCE so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey, painted thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each.
Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.

THE GOOD OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR ALL DISEASES.

These pills are invaluable to emigrants, being a certain remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Lungs, Liver, &c. Are equally adapted for all ages and either sex. Persons residing in the colonies who cannot have recourse to medical advice will therefore find them indispensable.

TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.—WIDOW WELCH'S PILLS (KEARSLEY'S ORIGINAL), so justly celebrated for their peculiar virtues, are recommended to the notice of every lady (having obtained the sanction of most gentlemen of the medical profession) as a safe and valuable medicine in effectually removing obstructions, and relieving other inconveniences to which the female frame is liable, especially those which at an early period of life arise from want of exercise and general debility of the system; they create an appetite, correct indigestion, remove giddiness and nervous headache, and are eminently useful in windy disorders, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart; being perfectly innocent, they may be used in safety in all seasons and climates. Price, 2s 9d per box, of all chemists.
It is necessary, owing to numerous imitations, to warn the public that KEARSLEY'S is the only original receipt, and has been prepared by the Kearsley family over eighty years. Purchasers should see that each box is wrapped in white paper, and the name "C. Kearsley" is engraved on the Government stamp.
Wholesale Agents:—J. SANGER and SON, 252, Oxford-street, London, England. Ask for "KEARSLEY'S," and see you get them.

WELL WORTHY OF NOTICE, AS A CERTAIN CURE for Bilious and Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Foul Breath, Nervous Depression, Irritability, Lassitude, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Sour Eructations, Lowness of Spirits with sensation of fulness at the pit of the stomach, Giddiness, Dizziness of the Eyes,
DR. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS stand unrivalled.
As a general family aperient Medicine they have no equal; being mild in their operation and grateful to the stomach, they give a healthy tone and vigour to the different secretions, causing the necessary organs of the stomach and liver to resume their activity, thus restoring the appetite, promoting digestion, and strengthening the whole system.
They can be taken at any time without restraint from business or pleasure, hence they are a most valuable domestic medicine. Heads of households should always have a box of these pills by them, to resort to on any slight occasion of ailing on the part of those under their charge, as by paying attention to the regular action of the stomach, liver, and bowels, many a severe illness is avoided or mitigated. They will be found, in slight cases, by a single dose, to restore health to the body with a happy frame of mind.

J. T. FALLON'S ALBURY WINES.
J. T. Fallon announces that, having recently discovered the very extensive substitution of inferior Wines for those of his Vineyard, and the Forgery of his Labels by numerous Vendors of "Albury Wines," he has been compelled to take decisive steps to stop such imposition and wrong, and to get placed before the public in unmistakeable form the well-matured Wines of his Vineyard.
J. T. Fallon is submitting to the public no wine under seven years of age, and all are warranted to maintain the high character they have attained wherever exhibited.
The public should not fail to observe that J. T. Fallon can only guarantee the genuineness of such wines as are obtained direct from himself, or from his recognised Agents, a list of whom will be found below.

THE EUREKA SELF-LIGHTING GAS BURNER.—In many instances the gas is left burning merely to avoid the trouble of re-lighting. With the EUREKA IMPROVED SELF-LIGHTER the gas can be turned on or off at pleasure, thereby saving time, trouble, matches, and consequent danger of fire.
Its convenience for ready use in the night, when light may be suddenly required, is obvious and inestimable.
There can be no suffocation from gas, because the moment the gas escapes it is lighted. It cannot be turned the wrong way.

7. You do not require to trouble friends for references.
8. Family history does not in any way affect a policy.
9. Accidents are constantly happening even to the most careful.
10. Premiums are only about ONE-FIFTH the amount charged by Life Offices.

Since the establishment of the National Mutual Life Association it has met with marked success, the direct result of the public appreciation of the sound and equitable principles upon which it is established and conducted, and of the full and open statement of its affairs, periodically published in its reports.

During the first eight years of its business 3054 policies have been issued, assuring upwards of ONE MILLION STERLING, on which the premiums received exceed ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS. TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS have been returned to members in payment of claims, surrenders, and bonuses; and the ASSURANCE FUND at 30th September, 1877, amounted to £53,470 8s 10d.

Among the leading features adopted by the National Mutual, and introduced for the first time in these colonies, are the following:—

No member's Policy shall be allowed to lapse on account of the non-payment of any Premiums so long as it has a surrender value sufficient to pay the Premium overdue.

No member shall be compelled to pay a higher Premium on his Policy than that opposite his age in the table of rates.

The age of members shall be taken as at nearest birthday.

Surrender value allowed after a Policy has been two years in force.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions from the Executors in the Estate of the late W. W. Ewin, to sell by auction, at the Bazaar, Pitt and Castlereagh streets, Sydney, on THURSDAY, 21st of November, at 11 o'clock,
The following bulls, cows, and heifers:—
10 Pure-bred Shorthorn young Bulls, by 5th Duke of Brunswick, N. S. Wales, out of magnificent cows, selected with great care by late Mr. Ewin.
15 Magnificently bred Cows, some of which were purchased at very high prices.
31 Heifers, regular gems, by 5th and 6th Dukes of Brunswick, N. S. Wales, and out of the best bred cows that could be selected.
☞ The Auctioneer particularly wishes to direct the attention of breeders to this magnificent lot of 56 head of bulls, cows, and heifers, as such an opportunity is seldom met with to procure pure-bred stock. The late Mr. Ewin was not only one of the best judges of stock in New South Wales, but he was determined to have the best stock, no matter what the cost. In 1874, at the Sydney Exhibition, he bought the 5th Duke of Brunswick from Mr. H. Moreton, of Mount Derrimut, Victoria, for 1150 guineas, and this animal proved to be one of the best sires in New South Wales. At the last Exhibition meeting I sold seven bull calves for Mr. W. W. Ewin, by the 5th Duke of Brunswick, which brought the highest average for seven calves at the Agricultural Society's meeting in Sydney for the year 1878.
Full particulars as to pedigrees, &c., to be found in catalogues, which are now ready, and can be had by intending purchasers on application at the Bazaar.
Sydney, October 18, 1878.

AUCTION SALE OF STEAMERS, MANLY and PHANTOM.

These VESSELS are for POSITIVE SALE, by order of the PORT JACKSON STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, on account of the arrival of their NEW STEAMER COMMODORE, and the now daily anticipated arrival of their passenger steamer FAIRLIGHT.

GILCHRIST, STUBBS, and WESTON have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, 273, George-street, on TUESDAY, the 29th October instant, at 11 a.m.,

THE MANLY,
60 tons register;
LENGTH, 101 FEET; BEAM, 17 FEET 7 INCHES;
DEPTH OF HOLD, 8 FEET 2 INCHES;
was built in 1874 of the VERY BEST MATERIAL, copper-fastened throughout.
Is fitted with a pair of VERTICAL ENGINES, 45-HORSE POWER, by the celebrated maker, JOHN PENN, of LONDON; BOILERS by MORT and CO., of SYDNEY; the whole of the machinery being in first-class order, and steaming about ten knots an hour.

THE PHANTOM,
39 tons register;
LENGTH, 119 FEET 4 INCHES; BEAM, 13 FEET 1 INCH;
DEPTH OF HOLD, 6 FEET 8 INCHES.
Is so well known as to require little comment, being of 60-HORSE POWER, with most excellent ENGINES and BOILERS, as testified by the regularity of her work, and her very SMALL CONSUMPTION OF FUEL. She is perhaps the most desirable vessel in the harbour now for sale. As a FERRY BOAT her construction renders her perfect, and she might well take the place of many of the minor steamers now in commission.

THESE VESSELS—the most USEFUL, ECONOMICAL, and PROFITABLE of their respective classes—are for positive sale.
The IMMENSE INCREASE of STEAM TRAFFIC in the harbour and on the coast makes both vessels well worthy the attention of all parties awake to the special feature of our immense harbour transit, in which alone there is constituted the best return for any reasonable outlay of capital now available in the colony.

SALE—TUESDAY, 29th OCTOBER.
GILCHRIST, STUBBS, and WESTON.

ITS FAME as one of the most FAVOURITE RETREATS for INVALIDS and PLEASURE SEEKERS is well known through the COLONIES and has extended to ALL PARTS of EUROPE.

LIVERPOOL PLAINS DISTRICT.

KEEPIT STATION, together with 13,800 MIXED SHEEP 500 HEAD CATTLE. Estimated capability 30,000 SHEEP.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have been instructed by R. Blaxland, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 6th November, 1878, at 12 o'clock,

KEEPIT STATION, situated on the NAMOI RIVER, just above its junction with the PEEL RIVER.

The general character of the COUNTRY is black soil flats and open box forest

It is AMPLY WATERED by the NAMOI RIVER, which passes through the CENTRE OF THE RUN, and Wongo, Hallinger, and Rushes Creeks, and numerous SPRINGS and DAMS

There are about 4580 acres of freehold land, and 9645 conditionally purchased

The STOCK consists of
500 head mixed CATTLE
13,850 ditto ditto SHEEP, viz:
EWES—11,000, now lambing
2,000, maiden
200 rams
650 ration sheep
all more or less.

About 5000 of the above ewes have lambed and show an increase of cent. per cent.

The IMPROVEMENTS consist of residence, wool shed, drafting yards, cattle yards, horse paddock, and several sheep-proof paddocks, and nearly the whole of the boundaries are fenced; the estimated area of the run is about 100,000 acres.

The above run forms one of the best breeding stations in the district, being good sound country and singularly adapted to sheep-breeding, as is shown by the extraordinary number of twins and thribs in the present lambing, and if worked with Kickerbill as at present, would yield an immense revenue.

It is only through the death of one of the partners that this valuable property is offered for sale, the surviving partner intending to relinquish squatting after winding up the partnership.

Full particulars may be obtained on application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Sydney.

LIVERPOOL PLAINS DISTRICT.

KICKERBILL STATION.

UNSTOCKED.

Estimated Capability. 20,000 Sheep.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have received instructions from R. Blaxland, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 6th November, 1878, at 12 o'clock, KICKERBILL STATION, situated on the MOOKI RIVER, and surrounded by the A. A. Company's celebrated Warrah Station, Selville, Mooki Springs, Forresters, Yarraman, Walhollow, and Clift Breeza Stations.

The COUNTRY consists of exceedingly rich black soil plains, and box ridges, and is admitted to be the grandest fattening run on the plains.

The WATER is abundant and well defused over the run, which in addition to extensive frontage to the Mooki River, has about 30 wells, the principal of which are in working order, and fitted with water lifts, whims, &c.

Its carrying capacity is fully up to 20,000 sheep, and would fatten off 15,000 sheep per annum.

There are about 2637 acres purchased land, and 3283 acres conditionally purchased.

The improvements include superior eight-roomed cottage and garden, kitchen, laundry, store, and all necessary outbuildings, stock and sheep drafting yards, &c., all in good order.

The whole run is securely fenced, and subdivided into paddocks of about 6000 acres, in addition to homestead, horse, and cultivation paddocks.

In placing this property before the public, the auctioneers would point out that it only reaches the market in consequence of the death of one of the partners, the survivor intending to wind up the affairs of the partnership, and relinquish squatting pursuits.

This run is undoubtedly one of the best, if not the best fattening run in this favourite district, and is certainly not surpassed in its fattening properties by any run in the colony.

Full particulars may be obtained on application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Sydney.

By order of the Executors in the Estate of the late Mrs. MARY GIRARD, Richmond River.

DUNGARUBBA and TUCKI TUCKI STATIONS.
Together with 6000 HEAD mixed CATTLE, more or less.

HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN have been instructed by the executors in the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Girard to sell by public auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 30th October, 1878, at 12 o'clock,

DUNGARUBBA and TUCKI TUCKI STATIONS, situated on the north side of the RICHMOND RIVER, embracing an area of about 48,000 acres, being all the available country on that side of the river, to which it has a frontage of about 38 miles. There is no doubt when Lismore was included that extent of frontage existed, but since free selection set in most of the river scrubs are taken up, which are advantageous to a run, as no haunts exist for wild cattle. It is ABUNDANTLY WATERED by the DUNGARUBBA and TUCKI TUCKI CREEKS and the BROADWATER, the reliable nature of the supply having been amply proved during the late long-continued drought.

There are 230 acres of purchased land on the runs, which will have to be taken at £1 per acre.

The IMPROVEMENTS consist of superintendent's residence of 4 rooms, kitchen, servant's room, three-stall stable, milking yard, shed, overseer's cottage, slaughterhouse, stock-yard, capable of working 6000 head, with lane, and paddock of about 700 acres of rich land, which can be purchased in virtue of improvements.

With the runs will be sold
5000 HEAD MIXED CATTLE
80 HORSES.
All more or less.

The CATTLE are an exceedingly well-bred herd, great care having been taken for many years in the selection of the bulls and as only one draft of store bullocks has been taken out for the last 4 years, there is a large number of MARKETABLE CATTLE now available.

The purchaser of these runs will have the option of taking at a nominal price per acre the LISMORE ESTATE, comprising 737 acres of FREEHOLD LAND, adjoining the town boundary of LISMORE, together with 25 acres 3 roods 23 perches of town land, upon which is a LAGOON with a never-failing supply of water. Land adjoining this property was sold at £90 per acre, and there are also 187 acres near the town.

On this ESTATE are the following IMPROVEMENTS:—Dwelling-house of 8 rooms, kitchen, store, scullery, bath room, servants' rooms, general station store, saddle and harness room, stable, hay shed, bull-shed, corn loft, milking yard, slaughterhouse, stockyard, overseer's house, garden and orchard of about 5 acres, stocked with choicest fruit trees, plants and flowers, two cultivation and two horse paddocks—the whole of the land being fenced in.

This valuable property is situated at the head of navigation, and the steamers Agnes Irving, Platypus, and Ballina ply to and fro regularly.

The character of the CLARENCE and RICHMOND CATTLE is too well-known to need special comment here, and the extraordinary advantages of these stations are of such a nature as to render them the most lucrative, easily managed, and safest investment that can be found, and are almost entirely free from the disastrous effects of drought, while the condition of the herd would afford an immediate and very large return.

Full particulars may be obtained on application to HARRISON, JONES, and DEVLIN, Sydney.

FOR SALE, by public auction, on November 1, 1878, at Hill End, Freehold PROPERTY, in main street, consisting of two-story Brick HOUSE, containing two shops with fixtures, three up-stair rooms, and brick kitchen in back yard.

THOMAS PARNELL has been instructed to sell by auction, at his Rooms, 324, George-street, Sydney, on TUESDAY, 12th November, at 12 o'clock,

COWBALL STATION.

Two blocks of magnificent country, in the Gwydir district, New South Wales, known as Bingerang and Coocallah, with 4000 head of well-bred cattle.

This run is situate on the Gill Gill, with a frontage to that creek of over six miles, the entire length of which is reserved from sale or selection.

It extends back about ten miles, embracing 64 square miles of country, or thereabouts, and is intersected by Coocallah Creek which runs through the middle of the run, and empties itself into the Gill Gill. It is watered by the Gill Gill and Coocallah Creeks, both of which contain a large supply of water; it having depastured 6000 head of cattle during the last three dry seasons, evidences the capabilities of this splendid property, which cannot be surpassed for fattening and grazing.

It is admirably adapted for either sheep or cattle, being interspersed with box and myall, with open box forest and fine plains, abundantly supplied with wild carrots, crowfoot, saltbush, and various grasses.

The improvements are a comfortable house, newly built; new stockyard, erected at considerable cost, with all drafting appliances, sufficiently capacious to work a large herd of cattle. In addition to this 17 miles of wire fencing have been erected; also a herding yard, besides a small paddock adjoining the homestead.

This snug property the Auctioneer can with confidence recommend as being a good, healthy, fattening run.

All the cattle depasturing thereon are choice and well-bred, and always command high prices in the Mudgee market, being the progeny of Messrs. Lee's bulls. Nothing further need be said in their favour, as the high estimation in which these bulls have been held by the public for years is well known.

For further particulars apply to THOMAS PARNELL, 324, George-street, Sydney.

LIVERPOOL.

Preliminary Notice of ABSOLUTE SALE IN THE ESTATE of the LATE MR. GILBERT MAC HUGH.

CHARLES A. SCRIVENER has been favoured with instructions by the Executors in the above estate to sell by auction, at an early date,

The following very valuable freehold properties, situated in best positions in the rapidly rising and very healthy town of Liverpool.

A choice block of land, about 20 acres, situated opposite the Hon. S. Samuel's property, of Collingwood, fenced and well watered, having a large frontage to main road, less than a mile from railway station, just the site for a gentleman's residence, or would be very valuable for subdivision.

A large and very complete tan-yard, extensive sheds, brick building, and residence, with every appliance for carrying on an extensive business. This is a large and important corner block, with great frontages to leading streets.

Frontages in Northumberland-street.

The Auctioneer wishes to direct special attention to these properties, which must be sold, and affords an opportunity seldom met with of securing freeholds daily increasing in value. Full particulars in a future advertisement at an early date, or by application to the Auctioneer.

BUNBUCKLEY,

CUDGEGONG RIVER,

28 miles from Wellington, and 30 miles from Mudgee.

1095 ACRES FREEHOLD
80 ditto ditto
200 ditto CONDITIONAL PURCHASES, with
3500 ditto PRE-LEASES.
All adjoining, and commanding four miles' frontage to the river.

Day of Sale—THURSDAY, the 7th November.

CROSSING and COX have received instructions from Messrs. Matthew and William Laby to sell by auction, at their ROOMS, MARKET-SQUARE, on THURSDAY, the 7th November, at 12 o'clock noon,

The whole of the above very valuable property.

THE 1095 ACRES FREEHOLD shown on the chart as Briellat's has a frontage of one mile to the river, the only improvements upon which are a few sheep yards and huts. This is owing to the title having been in dispute for a number of years, which has now been made perfect by the residential claimants purchasing the legal title and dower.

A large portion of this land is rich black soil, suitable for growing corn, and the whole splendidly adapted for grazing sheep or cattle, and as it is of easy access to Mudgee and Wellington, where we hope soon to have railway communication, a line of which is now being constructed to the latter place, which must make this property immensely valuable.

The character of the soil of the conditional purchases cannot well be surpassed; they are highly improved by a comfortable house, fencing, clearing, &c., and the declaration as to residence and improvements made.

The pre-leased land is splendidly grassed, open box ridges, not likely to be selected, and equal to any ridge land for grazing purposes.

As the property is positively to be sold to the highest bidder, we would recommend those in search of a comfortable, and what is likely to be a profitable homestead, or those requiring a good investment, to attend this sale.

TERMS:
Half-cash, balance at one and two years, with bank interest added, secured on the property.

Title guaranteed.
E. CLARKE, Esq., Solicitor.

TRIDA STATION.

R. GOLDSBROUGH and CO. (in conjunction with George Aitken) have been favoured with instructions from Messrs. Andrew Anderson and Co. to SELL by AUCTION, at Goldsbrough's Wool Warehouses, Melbourne, on FRIDAY, November 22, at 3 o'clock, p.m.,

Their well-known first-class property, TRIDA, situate in the Lachlan district, N. S. W., adjoining the famous Mossgiel and Willandra Stations, together with 70,000 Sheep
260 Cattle
56 horses.

This fine station contains an area of about 275,000 acres nearly all fenced in and sub-divided into about twenty paddocks, principally with substantial wire fencing, and it is abundantly watered by wells, dams, and tanks, the owners having spared no expense in improving and rendering it capable of carrying a large increase of stock.

The various buildings are very complete, and include every requisite for efficiently working the property, including comfortable house, with outbuildings, large woolshed (nearly new) &c.

The country is of the most fattening description, consisting of salt and cotton bush plains, with open forest, and it is not nearly stocked, the capabilities being quite equal to 100,000 sheep.

The sheep are in splendid order, and there are about 30,000 [illegible] breeding ewes, so that buyers can confidently reckon on a large increase next lambing.

Intending purchasers are recommended to inspect at once, as this property is for absolute sale.

For further particulars, terms, &c., apply at Goldsbrough's Wool Warehouses, Melbourne; or to GEO. AITKEN, Collins-street West, Melbourne.
